THE RACE

PEP RALLY

The Homecoming festivities were kicked off with the pep rally. The rally started with a victory march from the gym to the football field. Master of Ceremonies, Robert Morrison, announced the Homecoming Court. At the close of the rally, an "SAU" torch was set aflame on the field.

DISPLAYS

Homecoming displays popped up all over campus to help get the student body into the spirit of homecoming. The displays have recently taken the place of the parade. Most clubs and organizations on campus enter a display. This year's Theme was "Show Your True Colors, Blue & Gold Proud." First place was won by the Biology Club while the RHA took second place.

Theater production focused on injustice of rape

Bottom: Raul (Kevin Kilpatrick) was chained in the fireplace by Marjorie (Twila Woodell) until she could figure out what to do with him.

The Department of Theater at SAU presented William Mastrosimone's adaptation of "Extremities" on November 5, 6, and 7.

"Extremities" takes place in an old farmhouse, which is shared by three roommates, Marjorie (Twila Woodell of Stamps), Terry (Debbie Dunwoodie of Magnolia), and Patricia (Rebecca Martin of Bradley). Raul (Kevin Kilpatrick) has been observing the house and its occupants for some time, biding his time, waiting for an opportune moment to make his move.

One day, after Terry and Patricia have left for work, Raul enters and assaults Marjorie. She manages to escape her attacker and, eventually, captures him. She must then decide whether to release him or "fix" him. Later that same day, after her roommates return from work, she tries to involve them in her decision to take matters into her own hands. She bases this decision on the fact that the law probably won't be on her side in the matter. Mastrosimone uses this setting to establish his "courtroom drama."

"Extremities" is a powerful play based upon the testimony of a rape victim who positively identifies her attacker, takes him to court and watches him set free to roam the streets.

Mastrosimone wrote the play not to make a statement, but rather to "do" something to change people's perception of rape. "I wanted to write a courtroom drama, not in court, but in a living room (the most likely place for a woman to be raped in her own home). I wanted to create a psychic trail where all characters shift roles and become plaintiff, defendant, prosecutor, judge, witness, etc. I wanted to show how the rapist can turn the jury around...the result is a 98 percent chance that the rapist will be set free," says Mastrosimone.

According to statistics, the average rapist rapes 29 times and one out of three women in the United States are sexually assaulted by the age of eighteen. Of all the rape cases that are able to pass the strict rules of evidence, only 2 percent ever result in a conviction of the accused attacker. Most rapes go unreported because of embarrassment or fear.

Mastrosimone wishes to dispell two popular myths about rape: 1) women cause rape and 2) rape is committed for sex. Rape is used to humiliate, degrade and intimidate the victim. This is a confusing issue because the tenderest act between a man and a woman is used to disguise the most brutal and sadistic of crimes; the extremities of the spectrum are brought together.

Due to the adult theme and strong language, "Extremities" was recommended for mature audiences. Dr. Jerry Cortez, who directed the production, strongly urged anyone who had been bothered by the "miscarriage of justice" that occurs during some rape trials to see the production.

House of Blue Leaves

Directed by Dr. Dan Skelton

Po' Folks

Southern Arkansas University's theater and mass communication department sponsored Erskine Caldwell's TOBACCO ROAD February 25, 26 and 27.

Dr. Dan Skelton, associate professor of English at SAU, was the director of the play. The cast included: Steven Blevins as Jeeter Lester; Twila Woodell as Ada Lester; Clay Sanford as Dude Lester; Margot Tull as Granny Lester; Diddler Johnson as Pearl Lester; Amy Harbor as Ellie May Lester; Marla Nipper as Sister Bessie; Chuck Rawlings as Lon; David Mack as Henry Peabody; Kevin Kilpatrick as the banker; and Tony Martin as Captain Tim.

Dr. Skelton said the production was set in the Depression. "The people have no credit, no crops, no food and no education. They have a few dreams and no hope," Dr. Skelton added. "There's humor (in the play), a lot of it, but it is not a children's play. The humor is very dark. In a way, this play is like a cruelty joke."

Passing The Time Away

SAU students found various ways to spend their leisure time. Hobbies ranged from water-skiing to playing badminton in the mall area. Mike Carey enjoys spending most of his spare time at the lake fishing and water-skiing. To put it simply...he just enjoys being outside. Gena Tomlinson takes time out from her busy schedule to grab a hot dog and chips at the Sigma Pi weiner roast. She also enjoys being at Mulerider football games and cheering her favorite team to victory. Lee Lindeman finds time to put down his baseball bat and pick up a badminton racket for a little "friendly" competition during Spring Fling festivities. Whether it was enjoying physical activities outdoors or just relaxing with friends, SAU students found a variety of ways to spend their leisure time.

Shana Liegh Aldridge was selected first runner-up and received a $400 scholarship. Aldridge is a freshman education major and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Aldridge of Stamps. She also presented a vocal solo. She was second runner-up and winner of the swimsuit competition in Miss Southwest Arkansas and was selected 1988 Braymate.

Other contestants were: Dina Blackman, a freshman psychology major and the daughter of Ms. Terry Cooper of Magnolia. Blackman placed in the top ten in the Columbia County Fair Queen competition and was second runner-up in the Miss Upward Bound Pageant. She presented a vocal solo and dance for her talent.

Rene Cook, a freshman engineering major whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Cook of Broken Bow, Oklahoma, has received numerous first place ribbons in dance and art competitions. She also presented a vocal solo for her talent.

Amy Harber, a freshman theatre major, has had roles in 'Laundry and Bourbon' and in 'Tobacco Road'. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Harber of El Dorado. She presented a jazz routine dance for her talent.

Cindy Weathersby, a junior child psychology major and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Weathersby of Camden, has had training in dance, twirling, gymnastics, piano, and speech and drama. She presented a jazz, gymnastic and twirling routine for her talent.

Master of Ceremonies was Dr. Dan Skelton, associate professor of English at SAU and sponsor of Phi Lambda Chi fraternity.

The pageant is an annual event sponsored by Phi Lambda Chi fraternity and is a preliminary competition for Miss Arkansas and Miss America.

What a Week

Election of Student Government officers for the 1988-89 school year was the focus of the 1988 Spring Fling festivities.

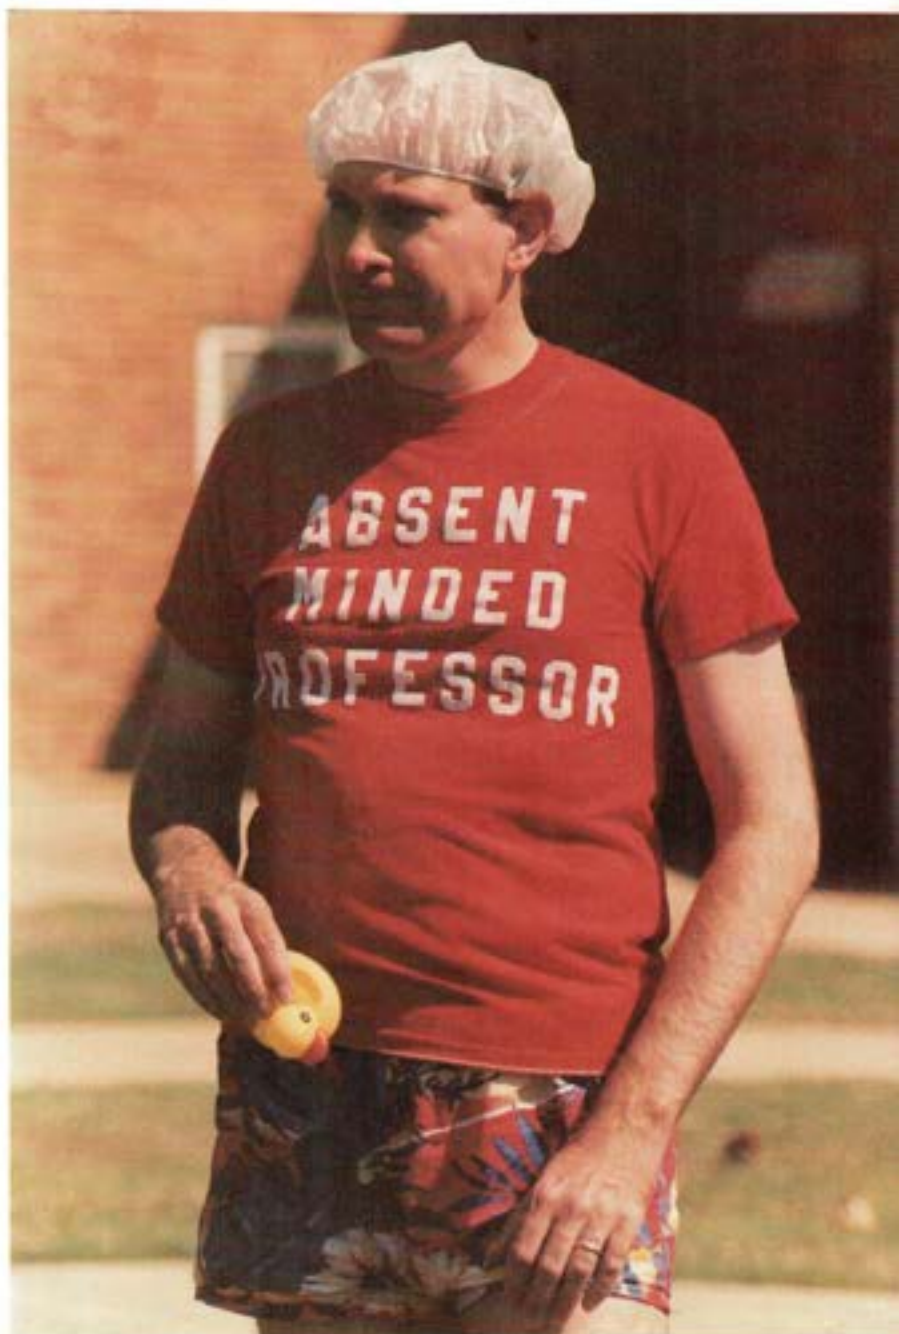

SAU students selected incumbent Arturo "Taco" Chavez, a sophomore psychology major from Magnolia, to lead the SGA for the upcoming year. Ike Aslam, a freshman Computer Information Systems major from Dubai, United Arab Emirates, will assist Chavez as vice president. David Peppers will serve as secretary and Tammy Burger was selected as treasurer.

Spring Fling kicked off on April 11, with an SGA-sponsored talent show. Jeff Smart, a senior general business major from Magnolia, took first place honors. Later in that same week, the Residence Hall Association sponsored their annual Battle of the Soundwaves, coupled with the InterGreek Council to sponsor a street dance.

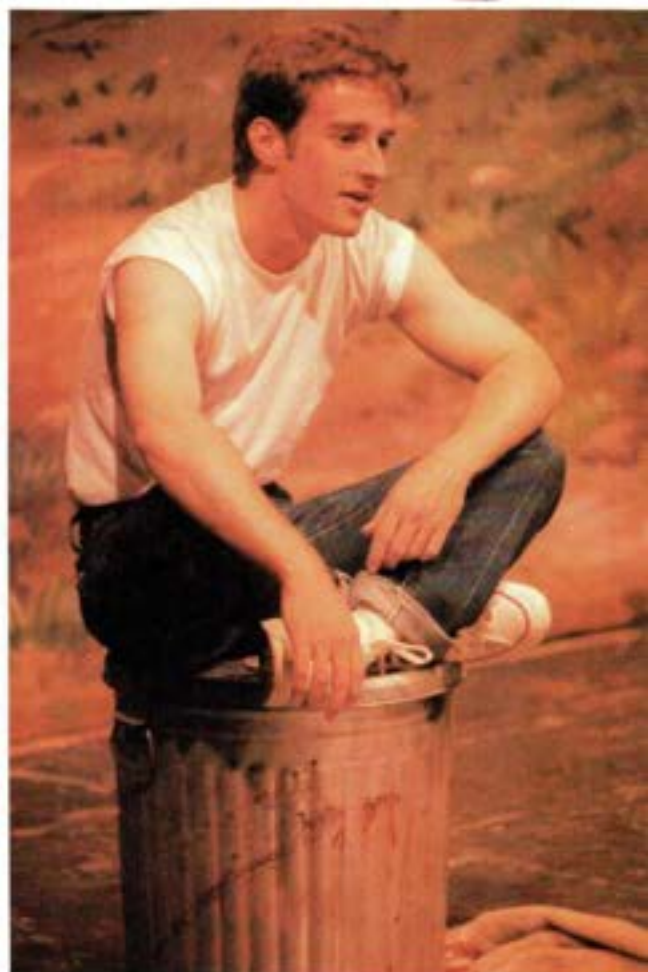

Carnival activities were conducted throughout the afternoon of the elections, with the ROTC opening the games. Immediately following, several Greek organizations sponsored activities such as an egg toss, pie eating contest, pig out contest, volleyball competition, a "chug off," and a tug-o-war.

T-shirts were given to winners in each category as well as to winners of the talent show.

MORE THAN JUST TYPING School of Business

The School of Business Administration had an extremely productive year with many curriculum enhancement activities. Some of those activities included:

- * Eighth Annual Business Day—From Little Rock, Hope, El Dorado, Monroe, and Magnolia, business executives came to share their expertise with our students.

- * Managerial Communications Speaker—Lacy E. Crain, Founder of Crain chemical Company, Inc. in Dallas, brought Dr. Robert W. Rasberry of the Edwin L. Cox School of Business to speak.

- * Dr. Franklin S. Williams—Distinguished Professor of management at the University of Arkansas gave a seminar on "Stress Management."

- * Research! Research! Research!—Mr. Kolb's international students with "The Export Feasibility Study of Columbia County Products", ten area companies assisted by Dr. Trexler's SBI students, Mr. McCall's students conducted research for South Arkansas Symphony, SAU Bookstore, Stephens Security Bank, Smitty's Grocery, and others.

- * Captured Collegiate PBL Title—SAU Business Students won more academic awards in State PBL—twenty two—than any other university, capturing the over-all trophy.

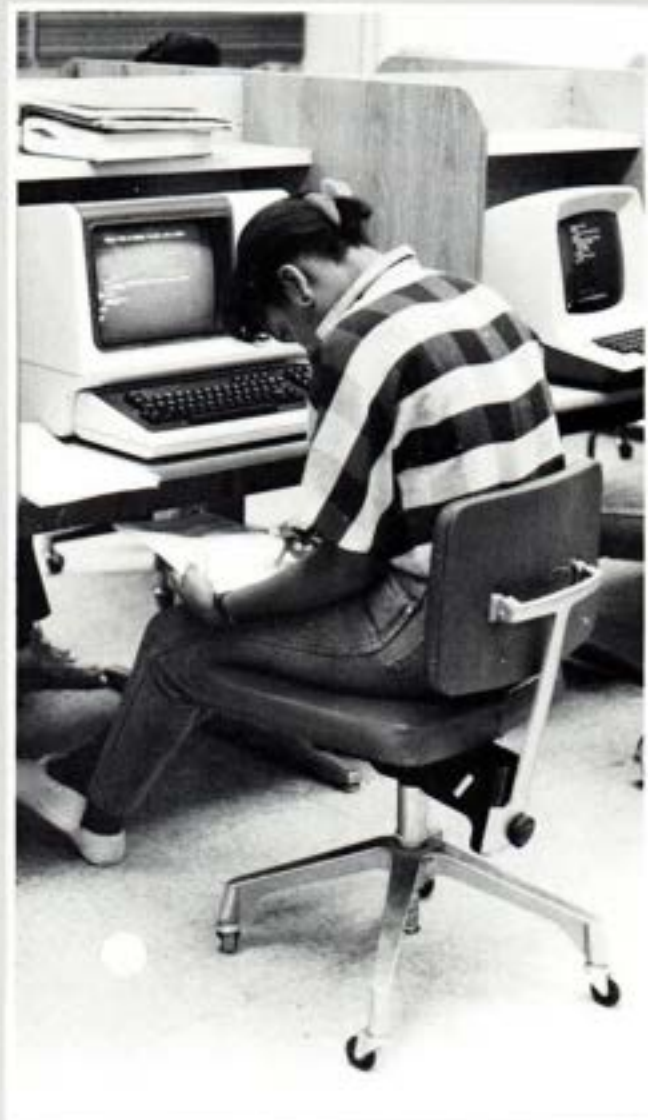

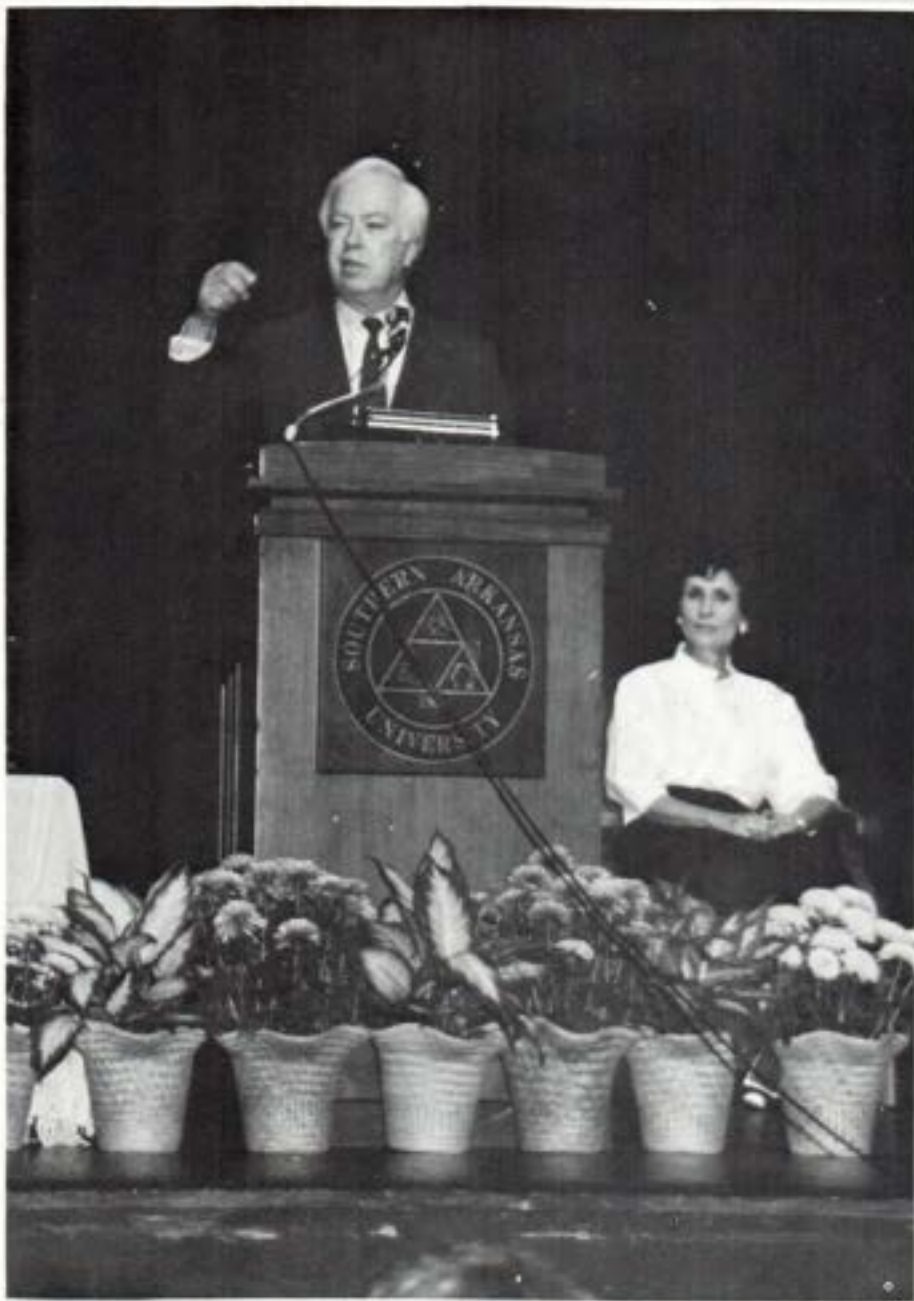

- * SIFE—Students in Free Enterprise Team won regional and head for national competition.

Dean Speaks at Tulane

School of Education

Dr. Dale Robbins Dean of the School of Education, spoke recently at Tulane University, New Orleans, to the Louisiana Schools of Education. His purpose was to present ways to prepare for accreditation as a result of redesigned standards of the National Council for Accreditation of Teachers Education (NCATE).

SAU has been one of several pilot schools in the NCATE project. In order to meet these new requirements four new staff members have been hired in SAU's department of education within the last two years.

Dr. Robbins says that his school of education has been working hard to meet all standards by next fall.

The book was written by a group of 125 students from across Arkansas that participated in a course, taught by Dr. Roach titled "Teaching Global Perspective." The book was published by the Arkansas State Department of Education and was distributed to all the schools in the state to be used by secondary social studies teachers.

A successfull year School of Liberal and Performing Arts

The School of Liberal and Performing Arts had a very successful year. One outstanding feature was the artists in-residence program sponsored by Rosemary Rhea and the Arkansas Arts Council. The grant placed three professional artists, a dramatist, a sculptor, and a musician, in residence at SAU. They also worked with students in Magnolia and Walker schools.

The Art Department started its first competition for the generous Shirley Jeffcoat Combs scholarship. And, with the help of the Curriculum Center, the English Department sponsored a very successful writing festival for over three-hundred Arkansas school children.

A new law fraternity was founded, Phi Alpha Delta, and many liberal and performing arts students were involved in band, choir, theatre, radio, yearbook, and newspaper work. In fact, the student newspaper, The Bray, was awarded a first-class rating in design and All-American status by the Associated Collegiate Press.

The School of Liberal and Performing Arts is always concerned with its mission to contribute to the general education of all students by developing their skills in communication, by broadening their knowledge of the world, by introducing art and music, and by increasing their skills for living in a democratic society.

A busy year

School of Science and Technology

The School of Science and Technology had a busy year. In celebration of National Chemistry Day, industries from around the state joined with the SAU Chemistry Department in setting up exhibits for viewing by area school students and others in the surrounding communities. The Agriculture Department held a reunion for all of its graduates, and the Nursing Department held a twenty year reunion and anniversary celebration.

The School of Science and Technology's main goals are to educate students in the sciences and mathematics and to prepare its students to enter graduate school or to enter industrial, governmental or professional occupations.

Department of General Studies

Many students arrive at the University under-prepared or lacking confidence in their abilities to do college-level work. To meet their needs, SAU has pioneered in providing assistance through the Academic Opportunities Program (AOP)—a battery of courses, special tutoring, and other personalized assistance designed to meet the students' individual needs. Course work available is nine hours in reading, nine in writing, six in math, three in psychology, and two in College Survival Skills.

SAU's is one of the most comprehensive such programs anywhere and offers almost a full year's curriculum for those who need or want it. More than 50 percent of the student body take advantage of some aspect of the AOP; some students participate extensively; some need only a part of the offered assistance. The grade point average for freshmen participating in the AOP is slightly higher than for those not participating.

In addition to the AOP, the Department of General Studies offers a baccalaureate degree in Applied Sciences for students coming to the University with associate degrees in technical fields. Also an associate degree is available to anyone who has completed his general education requirements (except for Fine Arts) and has a total of 64 semester hours with a 2.0 grade point average.

The Department of General Studies is located in Jackson Hall, where free tutoring and counseling are offered on a drop-in basis.

SAU mourns loss of Rodeo Adviser.

The fall semester of the 1981-82 school year, the SAU Rodeo team was organized by Ed Smith. Ed Smith passed away on October 1, 1987 much to the sorrow of the rodeo team.

As a tribute to Mr. Smith, the rodeo team dedicated the Annual SAU Rodeo to him, changing the name to the "Edmond Smith Memorial Rodeo."

The SAU Rodeo Team competes in several rodeos throughout the year. Rodeo contestants receive points from each go-around. The best five rodeos, of the ten possible rodeos, determine the year end winners in each event.

At each college rodeo there are six events for the men and four for the women. SAU has competitors in all of them. The one thing that all the competitors have in common is their goal to qualify for the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Finals in Bozeman, Montana.

Throughout the year, cowboy and cowgirls practice for many hours to compete competitively in the preliminary college rodeos. There is a maximum of ten rodeos within the Ozark Region.

Heritage Singers perform

In their home concert of the 1988 Spring Tour, the SAU Heritage Singers presented their Spring Concert in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

The concert included "I Got a Key," a Negro spiritual; "The Last Words of David," By Randall Thompson; Medley from "Porgy and Bess," by George Gershwin; and "Big River," by Roger Miller.

Soloist for the program included Angela Asbury, Annette McCoy, John Henley, Jena Baber, Karen Coker, John Huffman, Jimmy Archer, and Jeff Holcombe.

Dr. Gene Kelsay is the director of the Heritage Singers and Chamber Singers, but was unable to be there this year. Kerry Johnstone, the choir pianist, directed the Heritage Singers during the concert as well as on tour; Sylvia Wray, a member of both choirs, directed the Chamber Singers during the home concert.

Singing and dancing

Encore, the singing and dancing public relations group for SAU, worked on new music and new dance routines to tour through the high schools in the area this year.

Encore gained several new members this year and went at full force. Their music was of a wide variety from the 50's era to the 80's, from pop to country. They worked with the 50's hit "Good Golly Miss Molly" and a current Pointer Sister's hit "Be There" from the "Beverly Hills Cop" soundtrack as two of the featured dances.

They also worked on several tunes from the "Dirty Dancing" soundtrack, including "I've Had the Time of my Life", and Scott Word preformed a solo, "Nothing's Gonna Change my Love for You."

Encore also worked with Alabama's country music and used audience participation throughout several songs. Along with the new music and dance routines, Encore received new sound equipment which included a new mixing board and speakers.

Judy Vasser is the instructor/sponsor for Encore. Dave Mack, a member, said he felt that this semester turned out a talented, uninhibited group. He also said, "Encore has made it easier for me to meet people without the tenseness. It also helps to get away from the pressures of school and most of all just get out there and have fun."

PBL national winners

Southern Arkansas University had the second largest chapter membership in the State as well as in the Southern Region. "SAU is not only strong in membership, but also in quality," stated Dr. David Rankin, PBL Advisor and Professor of Economics and Finance. The Phi Mu Chapter received 26 awards at the 1987 State Leadership Conference in Little Rock-including seven first place awards.

Students from SAU competed at the 1987 National Leadership Conference in Anaheim, California, in July. They brought back a second place national award for Alumni membership, which included a $150 prize, a second place national award for March of Dimes contributions, second place award for membership in the Southern Region, recognition in the Southern Region for Alumni membership, and a Gold Seal Award for being an outstanding chapter in the nation-and four individual national awards-for a grand total of 10 national awards. Dr. Rankin, was elected to a three-year term on the National FBLA-PBL Board of Directors.

SAU students have won 258 state awards, 65 national awards, have held 14 state offices and one national office, and SAU has been a Gold Seal Chapter 13 of the last 14 years.

Free Enterprise Week declared

Governor Bill Clinton declared the week of March 6-12 as Arkansas Free Enterprise Week. The request for this proclamation originated with Students in Free Enterprise at SAU. These students are involved in a special program which promotes a better understanding of America's free enterprise system. The Columbia County chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with Student in Free Enterprise, sponsored Arkansas Free Enterprise Sale. Public service announcements were aired on local radio stations throughout the week to explain the United States' free enterprise system.

To Laugh or Not To Laugh

Campus Activities Board

During the fall semester the Campus Activities Board (CAB) sponsored a show titled "We Can Make You Laugh." The show consisted of a comedy routine and a 'Big Bucks' section. $25 went to the person or persons who could hold his/her laughter for two minutes. There couldn't be any smile or any type of movement. The judges included Dr. Ed Kardas, Mr. Bobby Medlin, and Todd Self.

There were many contestants but very few came away with any money. Some of the contestants were Dulane Beaver, Gene Stroger, Tracie Skaggs (CAB Director), Adrian Williams (A Winner), and others.

CAB is looking forward to sponsoring another show of this type in the future.

KSAU presents live radio program

Dr. Dan Ford's Advanced Composition class produced a live radio program in Harton Theatre on Monday, May 2.

KSAU, the campus carrier current station, carried the broadcast with students and the general public participating as a live studio audience.

The show, entitled "The Elum Sausage Radio Program," included music by guitarist Marc Williams, drama, phoney commercials, poetry, fiction and spoofy interviews. Ford explained the title of the show by saying that Elum is "mule" spelled backward and Sausage breaks down to "SAU Sages." "We created an imaginary sausage company for a sponsor. They make some unusually good breakfast sausage, including the recently-introduced frogleg link sausage," Ford said.

Dr. Paul Smith and Dr. Frank Schambach made guest appearances on the show.

This is, perhaps, the hardest page of all to prepare. The 'thank you's' are always inadequate, and the 'no thanks to you' seem petty as the book's completion draws near.

1987-88 has been a difficult year for the MULERIDER staff. Difficulties with work schedules required a change of editors in mid-year. Robert Smith took the job—probably without understanding what he had undertaken. It's almost impossible for anyone to understand the headaches, the impossible hours, the wheedling, needling, coaxing, threatening diplomacy required to make sure all the pictures are taken and printed, the text is written, and the layouts are assembled. Thanks Robert! You did a great job in spite of your senior exhibit, student teaching, and personal tragedy in your family.

Thanks to all the loyal staff members who did their jobs no matter what. That kind of dedication is worth more than gold, and no thank you could ever convey the gratitude for such a job well done. A loyal, hardworking staff is the greatest blessing an editor and adviser can have.

Thanks to the folks in SID and THE BRAY. Shakespeare says, 'Neither a borrower nor a lender be,' but these folks make good neighbors, and the system works, so we'll ignore the hard.

Thanks to Dr. Cortez and Dr. Ford for the cooperation they have given us—the encouragement, advice, and budgetary assistance.

For the absolute confidence and total support of the Student Publication Committee members, thank you.

To every member of the SAU faculty, staff, and student body who has helped by being on time for appointments, by providing pictures and copy for organizations, or just by being friendly and understanding when we goofed. THANKS!!

A special thanks to Mr. W.T. Watson and all the coaches who have allowed our photographers to share their sidelines and court sides. That privilege is appreciated.

We've tried hard to make the MULERIDER a high quality yearbook that truly represents the 1987-88 school year at SAU. Without question we have missed the mark in places, and we know that there will be some disappointments, but we hope you won't judge us too harshly and that you will find more to cheer than to jeer.

We hope you like this book. Here's to next year!

A difficult year

Angels sponsor show

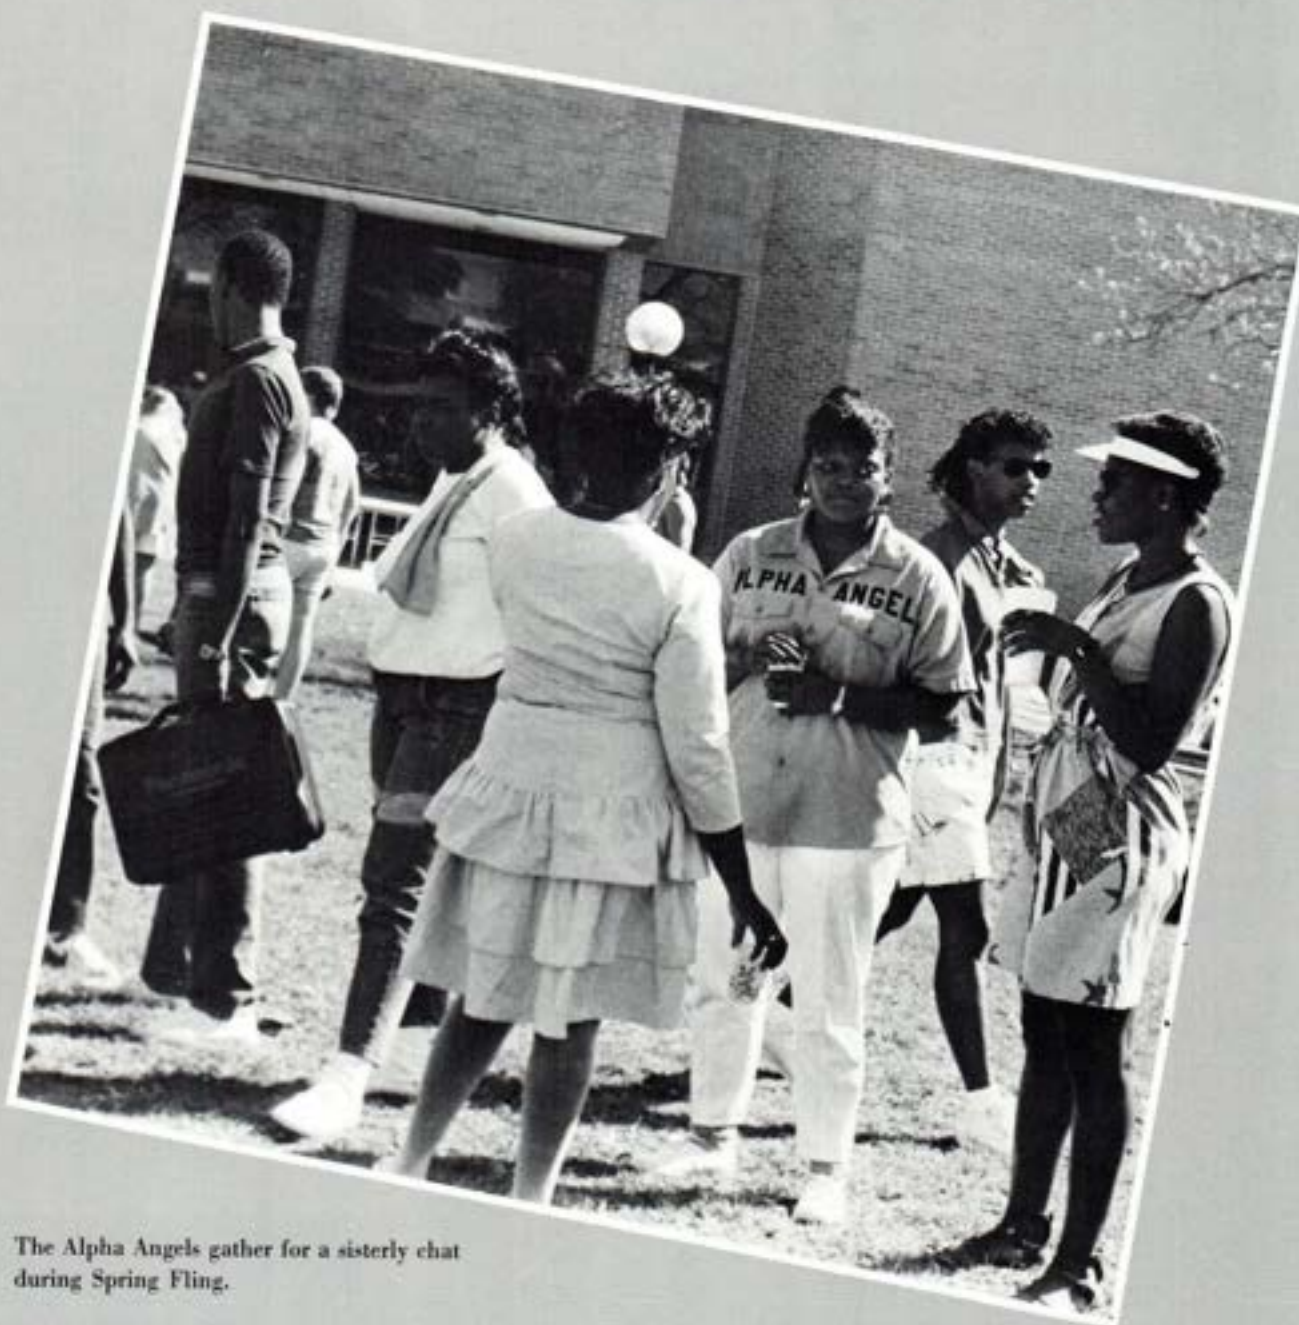

The Alpha Angels sponsored the Spring Bridal and Formal Show in the University Center. The show was a review of bridal styles and formal wear for weddings, dinners, and other formal occasions.

Sorority members decorated the center as a wedding chapel which was used as the modeling floor and, later, as the site of the mock wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Penix of Waldo, Arkansas. Kevin Penix is a member of Kappa Alpha Psi and Sherry Penix is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha. The minister was Mike Campbell.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the University Center. Cake and punch were served. Pictures were taken of the bride and groom and some sorority members.

The models for the evening included Ronnie Smith, Betty Tovette, LaTonya Miles, Lynn Steward, Vickie Eason, Sophia Kimbrough, and Freida Marshall. The formals were from Carroll's Bridal Shop of Waldo, Arkansas.

The Alpha Angels will sponsor another show in the near future.

Black History Month kicked off

Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority kicked off Black History Month with its annual Founders' Day Program on January 31 at the Bethlehem Baptist Church on Magnolia.

The theme of the program was "Together Anew, We Will Pledge Our Faith." These words were chosen from the national hymn of the sorority.

The AKA members chose this theme because they said it can pertain to many different organizations, faith to the black struggle, faith to one's goals and aspirations and faith in one's God.

The sorority also planned other events for Black History Month. Some of the events were Pinktown, USA, and AKA's salute to black achievers.

Pinktown was presented on February 16 in the University Center. Pinktown USA was a fund raiser for Alpha Kappa Alpha's endowed scholarship. This was the third year that the sorority presented Pinktown.

The AKA's salute to black achievers is also an annual event. It recognize black students on the SAU campus who hold leadership positions and those who are to be commended for their achievements. This was an invitation-only event and was February 24 in the Blue and Gold room in the cafeteria.

Fraternity reinstates Pharo Club

Alpha Phi Alpha

The Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity reinstated their edition of the Pharo Club this year.

The club is concerned with acquiring a good education, finding togetherness and pride, gaining a closeness to God, building character, respecting the organization and the school and finding the qualities and requirement that it takes to join Alpha Phi Alpha.

"Alpha Phi Alpha is concerned with doing what Alphas of the past, like Martin Luther King, set out to do," Alpha Phi Alpha President John F. Pressley said.

The Alphas will achieve this by reaching out to all races and pledging anyone who meets the requirements.

The Pharo Club has existed since the inception of Alpha Phi Alpha in 1906. It became active again this year because, unlike past years, the group has recieved a lot of feedback.

The members of the Pharo Club are: John Holmes, Marice Galeston, Terry Hill, Donald Grason, Elliot Scott, Karl Sensley, and Harry Dickens. These members were involved in activities like dances, Greek Shows, community projects, donation functions, car washes, swimming parties, and toga parties.

Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority has had another successful year on the Southern Arkansas University campus.

SAU's Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha sponsored many activities. Among these were the fall Sadie Hawkins and spring Hawaiian dances. Alpha Sigma Alpha also had its traditional Mardi Gras dance.

Alpha Sigma Alphas frequently help out local organizations and charities; one such organization was the March of Dimes.

Striving to be the best

Phi Beta Sigma

Phi Beta Sigma was founded in 1914. We may not have been the first fraternity founded but we are now the best fraternity ever founded. We were founded on the principles of brotherhood, scholarship and service. We are active on campus and we have just sponsored a scholarship for an incoming black freshman which will pay for the first semester's books. Although the winner has not yet been named we, the brothers of Phi Beta Sigma, would like to encourage everyone to strive to be the best you can be in life.

Phi Lambs Are Active and Involved

The members of Phi Lambda Chi carried on their tradition of working together. In the Fall, the big event for the fraternity was the Red Cross Blood Drive. In the Spring, the major undertaking was the Miss SAU Pageant. Both are annual events for the fraternity. Other activities in which Phi Lambda Chi took an active part were intramural sports, the RHA Bed Race, and Spring Fling.

Phi Lambda Chi and Sigma Tau Gamma joined together in the spirit of friendly competition in the first annual Toilet Bowl. The game was held to promote social interaction between the two fraternities.

The members of Phi Lambda Chi also involved themselves in a fund raiser, the "Help Amber" project, which raised money to help a small girl who needed a kidney transplant. The brothers collected $800 to help her.

Phi Lambda Chi is one of the most visible of the campus groups. Its members can be seen at all sporting events standing and waving a Rider Flag.

Sig Tau Works and Plays

The SAU chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma is one of the most active organizations on campus as well as in the community. On campus, the fraternity supports the athletic teams and participates in the Greek Olympics. They also conduct many social events such as Hot Dog Cookouts, an authentic Hawaiian Luau, and the annual Casino Nite. In the community, the fraternity has done work for the Children's Home, participated in the March of Dimes Walk, and has been involved with the Special Olympics.

The Delta Iota Chapter has had the honor of receiving the National Award for Outstanding Scholastic Achievement. Sigma Tau Gamma strives for excellence and integrity which maintains the bond with their brothers that will last a life time.

Sigma Pi:

good fun and good works

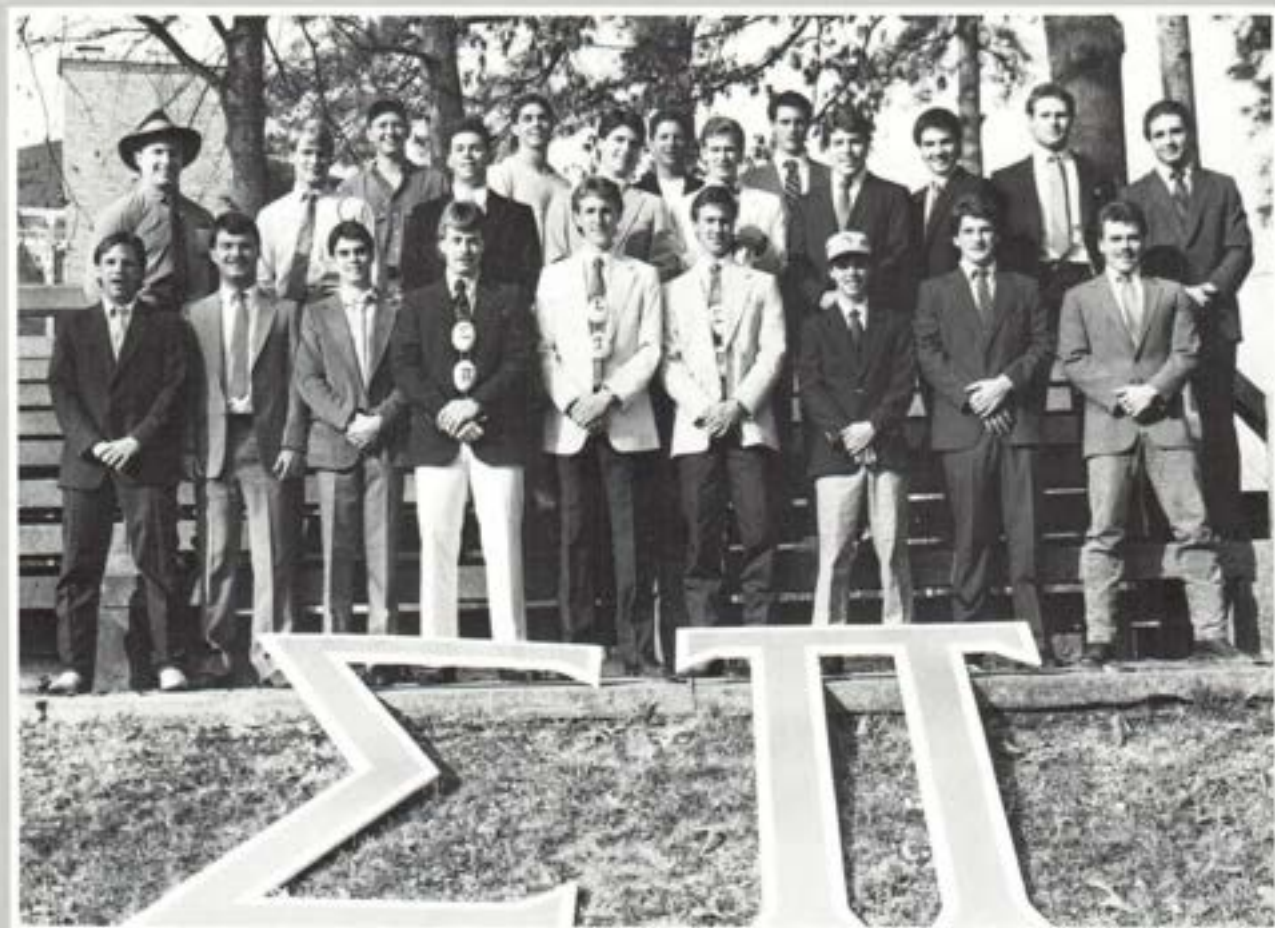

1987-88 was a good year for the brothers of Sigma Pi. They made themselves known about campus in a variety of ways.

At the beginning of the year, Sigma Pi sponsored a campus wide Weenie Roast on the student mall. They provided food, lots of music, and volleyball for all.

Later in the year, Sigma Pi put on its spoof of beauty contest with two competitions—Legs Contest and Miss Bray. Contestants were guys dressed as girls.

At Christmas, the Sigma Pi brothers visited Magnolia Manor Nursing Home. They took along cakes, cookies, and the Christmas spirit, serenading the manor residents with Christmas carols.

In the annual Phonathon for the SAU Endowment Fund, Sigma Pi members manned phones and took in $1,475.00 in pledges for the fund.

New Sorority Begins Pledging

Phi Delta Gamma

Phi Delta Gamma is the newest sorority on the Southern Arkansas University campus. This sorority was founded on December 2, 1987 by 16 young ladies. The sorority had a successful first semester. They are thankful for the support they received from other organizations.

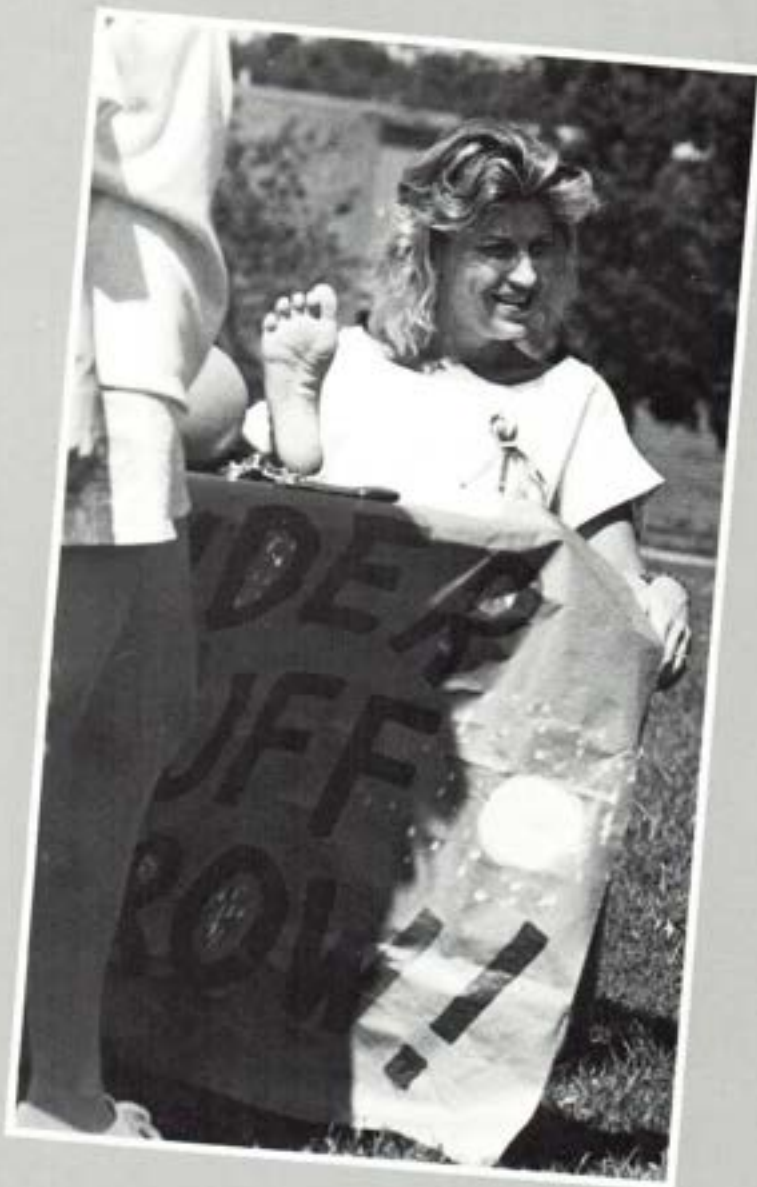

During the semester they participated in many activities. They hosted the blood drive at Southern Arkansas University and participated in the March of Dimes Walk. They also shared in the fun at the annual Spring Fling celebration.

Phi Delta Gamma has had a strong start and will continue to grow stronger.

Genuine affection

Dr. Harold T. Brinson has been the chief executive officer at SAU since 1976. He came to SAU from Abilene, Texas, where he was that city's Superintendent of Public Schools. Coming to SAU was a real homecoming for Dr. Brinson and his first lady, Gene. The two of them attended Magnolia A and M (now SAU), met here, and began their courtship. Because of such ties, the two have real affection for SAU, and that feeling comes through in all they do, but it is perhaps most evident in the quieter touches. For example, the swings that have been added around campus since the Brinson's arrival provide little oases of privacy and intimacy. Many have been donated by alumni to commemorate a favorite spot from their undergraduate days, perhaps the place where they sat and talked and dreamed of their futures. That may seem like a small thing to some, but it underscores the deep and heartfelt affection which the Brinsons have for the university. They know that SAU is more than bricks and mortar, faculty and books. It is a place where lifelong friendships and memories are formed, a place of warmth where futures are nourished. The Brinsons try to be a part of this. It is a rare day when Dr. Brinson does not have the time to visit with students who drop by with problems. He and Gene try to involve themselves with the daily life of the university, and they are found at most of the plays, concerts, lectures, commissionings, and games.

It is probably true that someone else could administer the affairs of the university, but it would be difficult to find a president and first lady who bring more genuine affection to the job.

Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Vice President for Administration and Finance

Acting Vice President for Academic Affairs

Dr. Pearce and his wife, Marie, came to SAU in 1977. The Pearces have five children - Robert, Kim, Eric, John, and Gretchen. Dr. Pearce's hometown is Enid, Oklahoma.

Dr. Pearce received his BS in Management and Economics and his Masters of Educational Administration from Phillips University. He received his PhD in Administration of Higher Education from Oklahoma State University.

Dr. Pearce says that SAU is a school that he is proud of and would want his children to attend.

Dr. Donald A. Haefner

Student Affairs

Dr. Haefner and his wife, Mary Ellen, made Magnolia their home in 1967. They have two children, Chris and Susan. Dr. Haefner's hometown is Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dr. Haefner received his BA in Psychology and his BSE from Ohio State University. He received his MA from the University of Kentucky and his EDD from the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Haefner's hobbies include sailing, snow-skiing, bicycling, water sports and making repairs around the house.

An active board

The SAU Board of Trustees had a very active year. Two of the more news worthy problems were the controversy over Rip Powell's appointment as track coach and the change in the faculty/politics policy. Another important issue was the need to hire new faculty members in order to meet NCATE standards. Board member, Virginia Todd, also received her master's degree in the May Commencement exercises.

Professor honored

Dr. Margaret Downing, professor of physical education, was named honor professor for 1988 at SAU. She received this honor at the 11th annual honors convocation on May 1.

Considered one of the pioneers in women's athletics in Arkansas, Dr. Downing guided the SAU women's basketball program from 1965-84. During her time at SAU, the Riderettes won eight Arkansas Women's Intercollegiate Sports Association (AWISA) conference titles, and two state championships and Southwest Regional Championships in the years before the AWISA.

Downing also coached teams at Amateur Athletic Union championships from 1963-65. Honored by the Arkansas Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in 1974, Downing also was named AWISA Basketball Coach of the year in 1977-78 and 1984 Coach of the Year by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Downing was inducted into the NAIA Hall of Fame in the fall of 1987, and has served on many committees and associations at the state, regional, and national levels including the U. S. Olympic Basketball Committee, U. S. Girls basketball League, and the U. S. Junior Olympic Basketball Committee.

Students receive honors

SAU announced its 1988 Outstanding Students from each school at the 11th annual honors convocation ceremony held May 1.

Kim Pearce McGlaughlin was selected as the Outstanding Student from the School of Business Administration.

McGlaughlin graduated with a degree in accounting, having maintained a 4.00 grade point average throughout her studies at SAU.

McGlaughlin daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Pearce, recently received the State Phi Beta Lambda Award in Accounting II, as well as the 1988 Wall Street Journal Award, which is the highest academic award a student can receive.

McGlaughlin has held the SAU Residents Scholarship from 1984-1988; the Arkansas State Governors Scholarship from 1984-1988; the SAU Scholar Athlete Award for 1986-1987; was an NAIA Academic All-American (volleyball) in 1986-1987; and was selected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities for 1987-1988.

McGlaughlin also held membership in the SAU Student Foundation; Alpha Chi, the National College Honor Scholarship Society; and was an officer in Phi Beta Lambda.

She is the wife of Mac McGlaughlin. Susan Renee Wildbur, Nashville, was selected as the outstanding Student from the School of Liberal and Performing Arts.

Wildbur, daughter of Vernon and Nancy Wildbur, had a 3.94 grade point average, and is a history major and a management minor. She served as secretary for Alpha Chi; secretary for the History Club; and historian for Phi Beta Lambda.

Wildbur placed third in office management at the 1987 Phi Beta Lambda State Conference and attended the 1987 National Leadership Conference in Anaheim, CA; is a charter member of Sigma Sigma Sigma Social Sorority, and has served that organization as secretary and as efficiency chairman.

Wildbur worked as a tutor at the Magnolia Boys and Girls Club and has been a volunteer at the Magnolia Special Olympics for the past three years. She has served as secretary in the SAU English Department for two years.

After graduation, Wildbur plans to work for the Arkansas Heritage Commission or the Arkansas Department of Parks and Tourism.

Michael Allen Volner, Magnolia, was selected as Outstanding Student from School of Science and Technology.

A 1984 graduate of Magnolia High School, Volner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Volner Jr., and graduated with a major in biological science and a minor in chemistry.

During his four years at SAU, Volner has been on the Dean's list as well as the President's list and has maintained a 3.73 grade point average in a rigorous pre-medical program of study.

Capping his four-year career at SAU, Volner was notified of his acceptance to the University of Arkansas School of Medicine in Little Rock.

A charter member of the Beta Beta Beta Biological Honor Society, Volner served that organization as president for 1987-1988 and president of the Medical Science - Biology Club; assisted in the Amfuehl Lecture Series. He was also inducted into the Alpha Chi Alpha Honor Society in 1986, and was selected as a student delegate to the Arkansas Federation of Water and Air Users Convention for two years. Volner conducted independent research for Dr. Hugh Johnson on the water quality of the newly created Lake Columbia.

Monda Beth Bearden was named the Outstanding Student from the school of Education.

An elementary education major with a specialization in early childhood education, Bearden is the daughter of Frank and Dot Bearden of Camden.

Bearden earned a 3.85 grade point average while active in Student Arkansas/National Education Association, where she was president; second year member of Alpha Chi Honorary Society; member of Tri Sigma Sorority; and is active in her church.

Bearden's practicum in early childhood was completed at Westside Kindergarten, Magnolia, and student taught at Ivory Primary School in Camden, in first grade.

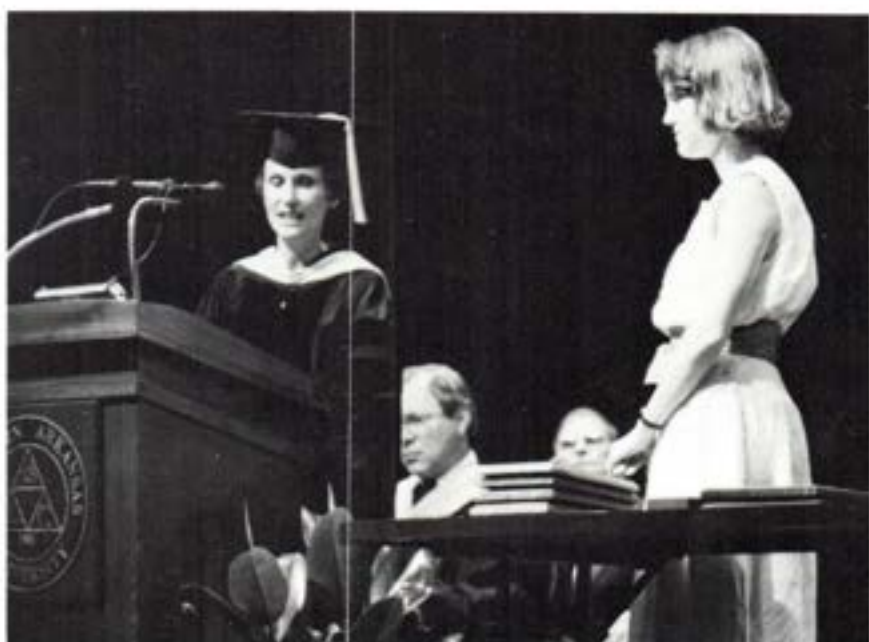

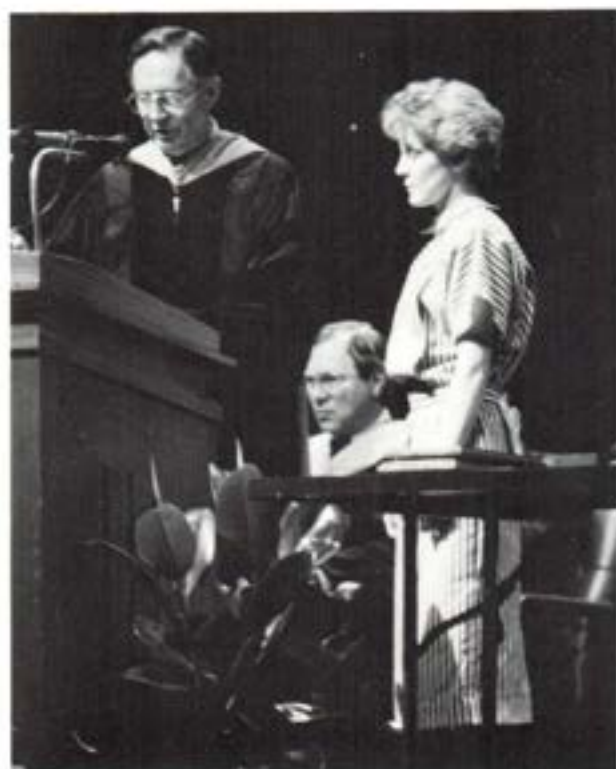

She will be employed at Fairview Elementary School in Camden in the fall of 1988.

Gail Sanders, SAU basketball standout from Stephens, was named the recipient of the "Auburn Smith Outstanding Senior Athlete Award."

Athletic ability and performance are the number one considerations in the selection of this award.

A 54 percent two-point shooter, she also hit 41 percent from the three-point mark, averaging 24 points per game. She also put in 101 of 135 free throws and averaged 9.9 rebounds per game.

This year alone, Sanders was named All-AIC; All-American Second Team; District 17 Player of the Week (twice); 600 Point Club; Career Most Points - 1,913; Most points in a Game - 46; Most Field Goals in a Game - 17; Most Free Throws made in a Game - 10; and All-AIC Conference Team.

Who's Who Selected

Members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities have been selected.

The Student Affairs Committee had the task of selecting students for the 39 nominations allotted to the university. These students, in the opinion of the committee, best demonstrated academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

The selection process involved a summary of each student's qualifications and a discussion about the student. After committee members had been given ample opportunity to comment on positive qualities the students possessed, the members then voted.

Honorees include Lisa Allen, a sophomore undecided major from Beaumont, Texas; David Baker, a senior computer science major from Buckner; Leann Beard, a senior elementary education major from Camden; Cheryl Darden, a junior physical education major from Hallsville, Texas; Stephanie Day, a sophomore general studies major from Magnolia; Angela Ferguson, a senior mass communication/journalism major from Hampton; Greg Ford, a senior finance major from Leola; David Fowler, a senior computer information systems major from Homer, LA; Cheryl Garrard, a junior psychology major from Magnolia; Sally Harrison, a junior pre-pharmacy major from Prescott; Brandt Heisner, a junior mass communication/broadcasting major from Shreveport; Patta Henderson, a senior computer information systems major from Nashville, AR; and Mary Hunter, a senior management major from Prescott.

Inductees also are: Bernice Jones, a senior physical education major from Emerson; Lori Keith, a senior math education major from Lockesburg; Stacy Liles, a junior agriculture business major from Mena; C. Wayne Lyle, a junior chemistry major from Magnolia; Kim Pearcee McGlaughlin, a senior accounting major from Magnolia; Freida Marshall, a senior marketing major from Fulton; Karen Mays, a junior Spanish education major from Magnolia; Robert Morrison, a junior finance major from Fulton; Sonji Ross, a senior elementary education major from Hope; Robert Russell, a junior chemistry major from Stamps; Lynette Scott, a senior marketing major from Stephens; Jeff Smart, a senior general business major from Magnolia; and Mark Southall, a senior political science major from El Dorado.

Also selected were Keith Spencer, a senior management major from Kingsland; Stacey Stone, a junior vocational agriculture education major from Delight; Letitia Strange, a senior accounting major from Bearden; Houston Taylor, a senior physical education major from Hatfield; Cari Vaughn, a senior management major from Texarkana, Texas; Vicki Walker, a junior administrative services major from Texarkana, AR; Terah Wardlaw, a senior pre-medicine major from Pine Bluff; James Waters, a senior management major from Hope; Susan Wildbur, a senior social studies education major from Nashville, AR; David Williams, a senior accounting major from Magnolia; Felicia Wilson, a senior accounting major from Stuttgart; and Joe Woods, a senior political science major from Taylor.

These honorees join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

The thrill of victory

1987-88 Football Team and Coaches

Right: Coach Hickland feels the thrill of victory once again.

The Muleriders, with a season record of 5-4-1 and an AIC record of 3-2-1, finished second in a conference that is generally regarded as tough and unforgiving.

The Riders, who had lost their opener with Delta State and rebounded to take a win from a strong East Texas State, went into their third game with high hopes. They beat Morehead State but at the expense of head coach, Rob Hicklin, who suffered a heart attack and was relegated to the press box for several games. The Riders then stumbled against Southeastern Oklahoma, bounced back to take Ouachita Baptist, and then lost to UCA in an agony of fumbles. Coach Hicklin returned to the field in an emotional 17-16 win over Henderson State. The following week the Riders let down to a win hungry Harding. High riding Arkansas Tech managed to escape Rider vengeance with a tie, and, in the final game of the season, the Riders squeezed out a win over U. A. Monticello.

The Riders played aggressive football all season and dominated their opponents in several offensive categories including total first downs, rushing yards, total offense, punts, and kickoff returns. Mark Mason was the leading rusher with 1,151 net yards, and quarterback Alan Halford led in total offense with 1,512 yards. A hard charging Rider defense was led by Glenn Davis with 104 unassisted tackles and Mike Strickland, who accounted for seven sacks; however, the most telling statistic may well be the thirty-five turnovers, fumbles which cost the Riders the ball twenty-three times.

THE SILENT SPORT

The Southern Arkansas University Riderette volleyball team of 1987 had a lot of experience, but still was without any seniors. Without any seniors, Coach Ginger Hurst had to rely on her juniors for leadership.

The Riderettes had five juniors on the squad to provide the leadership, and all were very capable, both as leaders and as players. Mary James headed the list of juniors. She was All-AIC in 1986, and was twice named AIC player of the week. Angie Moody was another experienced player. She was a two year starter, and was ready to challenge for All-Conference honors.

Cheryl Darden and Lesa Ayers were both explosive offensive players, while the remaining junior, Cindy Miller, was a great defensive player.

The Riderettes also had three sophomores return this year. Melinda Faight, who was a starter as a freshman, was one of the hardest hitting players on the team. Connie Brown and Pam Williams also returned to add depth to the team.

The Riderettes also featured two newcomers this year: Debra Edmond, a freshman from Helena, and Tami Rhodes, a junior college transfer from Wharton Junior College.

Below: Even though HSU's blocker is good, she's not good enough to stop Lesa Ayers from getting a point.

Opposite Page: Bottom: Cheryl Darden and Jackie LeDay work hard to keep opponents from getting the point.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

SAU forward three-time holder of Player of the Week honors

Arkansas Democrat

SAU's forward John Holmes was the Arkansas Democrat Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference Player of the Week for three straight weeks. Holmes is a 6-foot-7 sophomore from Eudora.

Holmes had 31 points in an 84-75 win over Henderson, followed that with 32 points in an 80-61 win over Ouchita and had 21 points in a 74-53 win over Hendrix.

SAU Coach Monroe Ingram said of Holmes, "He was just super."

In little more than a year and a half, Holmes had scored 819 points, which ranked him 28th on the Mulerider career scoring leaders list.

The all-time scoring leader is Greg Alexander, who managed 1,886 points in 1975-79.

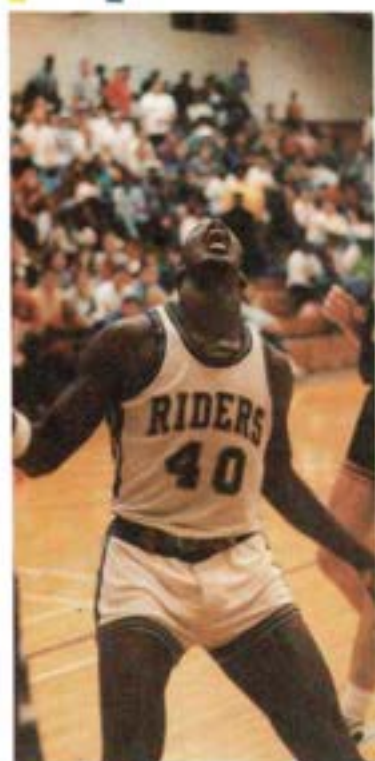

Holmes scored 405 points his first season, and has already tallied 414 this season with 5 regular season games left to play.

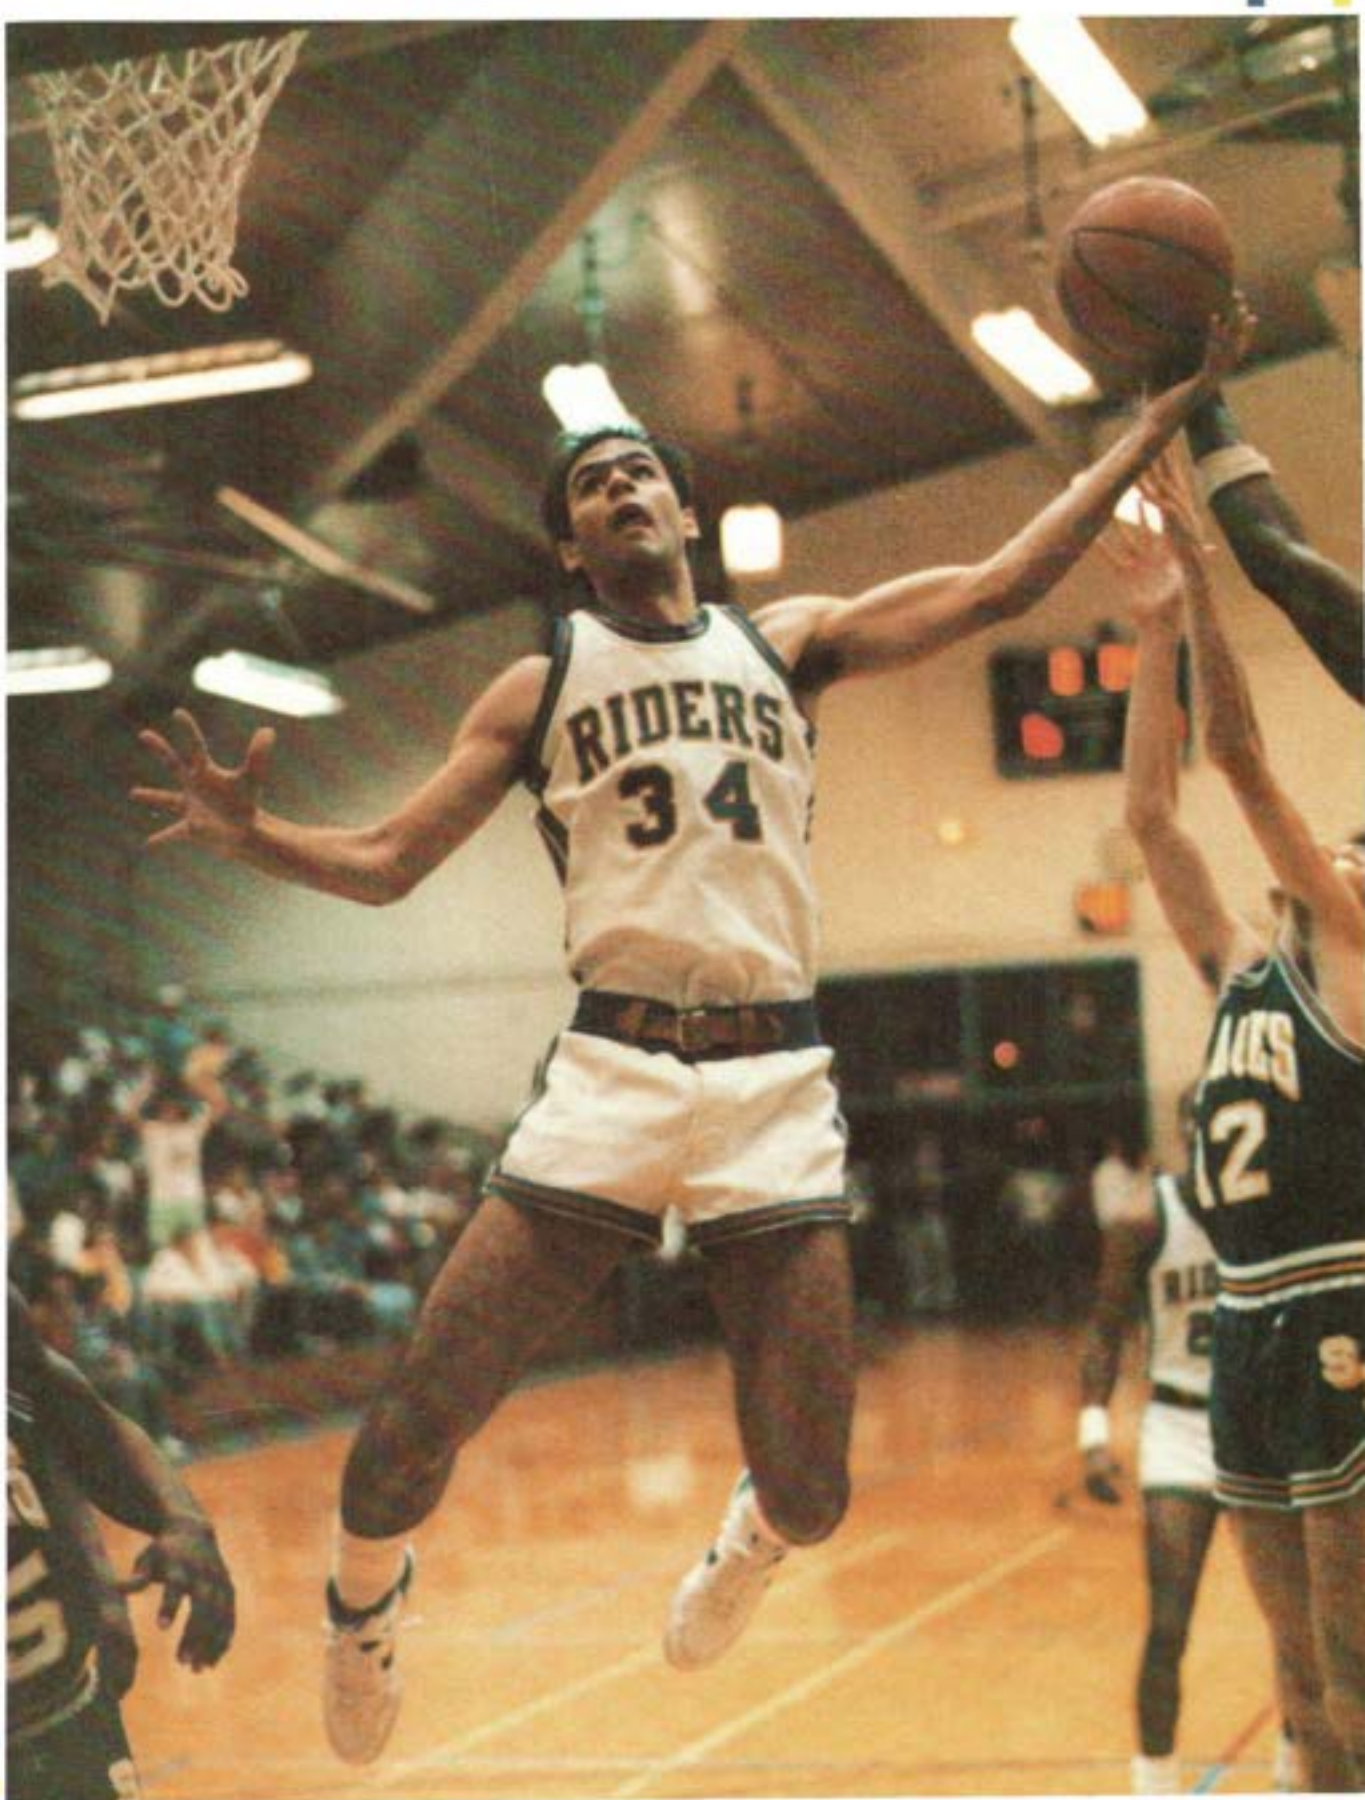

Calvin Thomas holds the single-season SAU scoring record totaling 619 points in the 1952-53 season.

Holmes has upped his shooting percentage from three-point range to 51 percent with his hot shooting this year.

Holmes has now hit 44 to 87 shots from the three point line. He is hitting 52 percent of his two-point shots.

SAU's Eby can play with the best no matter what the age

Sharon Eby clearly remembers the first time SAU women's tennis coach Hernan Guevara approached her with the idea of playing collegiate tennis.

"When Coach Guevara and (men's tennis coach) Baylor Guy brought up the idea last year, I thought they were kidding," Eby said. "But I thought about it and said to myself, 'Why Not?'"

Eby was skeptical because she was 45 years old and had been out of college more than 20 years.

But Eby quickly proved that age makes no difference, as she posted a 9-1 record for the Riderettes at the No. 2 singles position. The Magnolia native also finished runner-up in the NAIA District 17 tournament in both singles and doubles.

Not bad for someone whose competitions not even half her age.

"The first few times I stepped on the court, I could see my opponents thinking, 'This is going to be a piece of cake.' But I usually proved them wrong," Eby said. "I think I earned their respect."

Eby was no stranger to Guevara, as she had been practicing with the team for more than two years.

"There aren't many women players her age in Magnolia," Guevara said, "so she would practice against some of our players. I had seen her play in tournaments around here and I knew she was a good player."

"When I found out she had only a year of school left to graduate, I asked her to come out for the team."

"She just loves to play," Guevara added. "She's great to have around. She's been our most consistent player all year. She really gives our players a good workout in practice."

Eby says her younger teammates have helped make the transition to student-athlete much easier.

"They call me 'Mother of the team' or 'Mamma,'" Eby said. "But it's all in good nature." They all encouraged me to go out for the team, and they've been very supportive."

Eby also proved her endurance during the district tournament. After losing in the District 17 finals in both singles and doubles, she headed to Little Rock to play in the Adult Closed Clay Court championships. Eby won all her matches in the women's 45 division round-robin play to capture the title.

She was ranked No. 6 in the Arkansas Tennis Association ranking in women's 35 singles and No. 1 singles for the Shreveport, LA, Volvo team.

Eby's husband, Bill, and son, Kevin, can also hold their own in the sport. Bill was ranked second in men's 45 last year and Kevin was ranked 14 in Boys' 14 division.

Eby, who is on course to graduate in December with a business degree, has only been playing tennis for 11 years. She attended Oklahoma State, but dropped out her senior year.

"I actually got to play more tennis when I wasn't on the team," Eby said. "Now I've got to find time to study. But it's been a great experience for me and it's been fun."

This has given me the opportunity to get a college degree and at the same time play some competitive tennis."

Above: Sherrie Bedwell, who was chosen All AIC for 1988, had a strong serve.

Tennis team succesful

The SAU men's tennis team capped off a successful year with a tremendous finish at the NAIA National Tennis Championships in Kansas City, Mo. The Riders, ranked 24th in the nation going into the tournament, created some shock waves at the nationals by finishing tied 13th. They finished ahead of or tied with eight teams who, prior to the championships, were ranked higher in the national polls.

There were 247 participants in the singles draw and the doubles saw 122 teams compete. A total of 52 teams from across the United States were represented at the national tournament.

Individual results from the men were:

Paolo Pezzoli (30th)

First round df. Pazzo Salmi of Cal Lutheran, 6-3, 7-6 (3); Second round df. Craig Fitzpatrick of Atlantic Christian, 6-4, 6-3; third round df. Greg Stringham of BYU-Hawaii, 6-2, 6-0; and lost in the fourth round to No. 2 seed Dirk Hahneiser-Lander, SC.

Pezzoli received honorable mention All-American for getting to the round of 32 players.

David Grimes

First round df. Alvaro Victoria-Grace College, Ind., 6-0, 6-1; second round df. Bertrand Cordier of Greenville College, Ill., 2-6, 7-6 (3), 6-2; and lost in the third round to No. 25 seed Charlie Singer-University of Texas-Tyler, 6-0, 6-4.

John Balderree

First round df. Cyrus Boatwalla of Midwestern State, Texas, 6-0, 6-1 and lost in the second round to No. 28 seed Kenny Otillio of William Carey, 7-6 (5), 6-4.

Javier Valarde

First round df. Todd Rudland of Baker, Kan., 6-3, 6-1 and second round lost to Fredrick Anderson of Lander 6-1, 6-2.

Burt Allen

First Round lost to Geoff Watts of West Florida 1-3, 6-0.

Marc Locas

First round lost to Dominic Moerstedt-Elon College, NC, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles results in men's action were:

Robert Barr/Velarde

First round df. Boyett/Fuchs of Trevecca Nazarene, Tenn., 7-5, 6-4; second round df. No. 15 seed Maren/McAndrew of Thomas More, KY, 6-1, 6-4; and third round lost to semifinalist Baxter/Watts of West Florida 6-2, 7-6 (6).

"This was SAU's No. 3 doubles team during the year and was appropriate that the two seniors should do the best in the tournament for doubles," said Coach Baylor Guy.

Pezzoli/Balderree

First round df. Sonesson/Springer of BYU-Hawaii 6-4, 6-2 and lost in the second round to Buglies/Lynch of Flager, FL, 6-3, 6-2.

Allen/Grimes

First round lost to Obidiegwu/Rahy of Franklin Pierce 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

"A record 18 All-Americans returned from last year's tournament, including the defending singles champion and doubles champions, which made this the toughest national tournament to date," according to Coach Guy.

Only six of those 18 All-Americans made it to the round 16 and only one made it to the semifinals. The singles final was an all freshman affair and the semifinals were made up of one sophomore and three freshman. The No. 1 seed and returning champ in singles lost in the round 32, the No. 1 doubles team and returning champs lost in the round 16.

SAU's baseball coach driving the Muleriders to the top

A successful college program is built around one person.

It's not a quarterback. It's not a powerful forward. It's not a pitcher.

The one constant in college athletics is the coach. A complete turnover in player personnel happens every five years. If a team is to be competitive year in and year out, the coach must be the foundation upon which success is built.

At SAU, that cornerstone is Steve Goodheart. For the second straight season and third time in the last six years, the Mulerider baseball coach has guided his team into the NAIA Area V tournament. Both previous trips ended with World Series berths.

Last year's team finished third in the nation.

When the Riders are on the field practicing or playing a game, it's hard to pick out who's the head coach.

All the men in uniform look young, clean-cut, and like college baseball players. At 33, Goodheart doesn't look much different from his players.

And he's not; except he's the one in-charge. He's been the head coach for eight years, arriving in Magnolia in 1980.

"It was tough, it really was back then," Goodheart said of the close age difference. "But not on the field. The players knew I knew more than they did and I knew I knew more than they did."

"But I couldn't buddy-buddy with them. I couldn't socialize with them at all."

Which made things difficult because Goodheart is a quiet, shy man whose first love is baseball. On top of that, he was familiar with SAU having played for the Riders from 1973 through 1976, earning All-AIC honors his junior year.

"I didn't know a soul when I came here from high school (Great Falls, Mont.)," he said. "I was miserable for the first three days, I had to ask where the school was and where the dormitories were when I first got here."

He stuck around the campus in 1977 to finish work on his degree in English and work as a graduate assistant with the baseball team.

From there, Goodheart went in pursuit of more baseball and a master's degree. He found both in Tucson, Ariz.

"I wanted to go to grad school and stay in baseball," he explained. "So I wrote to every major baseball program in the country."

Several showed an interest, but the University of Arizona had the most to offer.

In 1978, Goodheart made his first visit to big-time college sports.

Under Wildcat Coach Jerry Kendall, Goodheart was one of a handful of underpaid, overworked graduate assistants. It was a perfect situation.

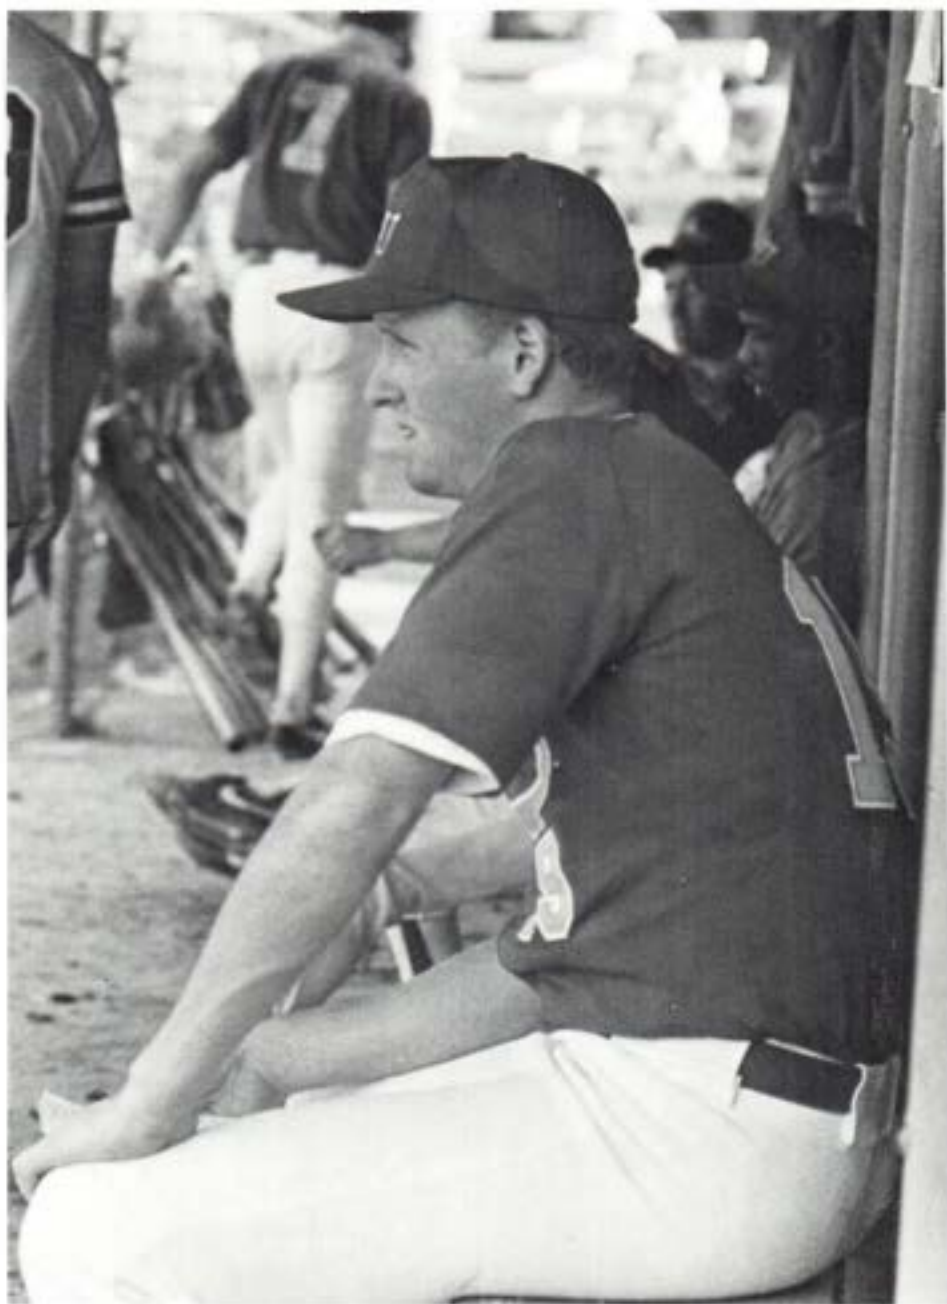

At Arizona, Goodheart learned the fine points of college coaching: organization, practice schedules, drill techniques and fundamental instruction. He also learned to live on nothing but a love of the game.

"I Worked as a janitor then and I nearly starved," Goodheart said. "I even sold my blood for money. I was down there with the bums from skid row...I only did that once."

He also picked up a master's degree in physical education, with a specialty in biomechanics.

"Yeah, I had some misgivings about his youth," SAU Athletic Director, W. T. Watson, said about hiring Goodheart in 1980. "But we're a little different here. Everyone here coaches have the time and Steve fit in perfectly because he teaches English.

"But Steve is totally dedicated to baseball," he continued. "As a player, he was an outstanding student. And he had all the good qualities we were looking for in an individual, with the exception of experience."

But since Goodheart had three years experience as a graduate assistant at the college level, Watson decided to give Goodheart a chance and the new coach took over a program that hadn't won an AIC title since he was a player.

Goodheart's first two teams went a combined 22-57 and 10-19 in AIC play.

"Those first couple of years were tough," Goodheart said. "We were so lousy and I made a lot of mistakes. It was hard for the players to get used to me and for me to get used to them."

Then he turned the corner.

In 1983, largely with players he had recruited, the Muleriders won the league and Area V titles and went to the World Series where they finished eighth. The team finished 29-12 and boasted nine players who batted over .300.

"It seemed like 'his team' went from being one of us, to being better than everybody in the conference," said Ouachita Baptist's Van Barrett, the elder statesmen among AIC coaches.

What Goodheart had overcome in his first two years were administration demands and his own shyness in recruiting.

"Back then, I was more worried about administrative things - getting umpires, buses, practice schedules," Goodheart said. "I almost worried more about the administrative aspect than about practicing."

"And, I was not good at recruiting because I was kind of timid," he admitted. "But the more you do it, the better you get. I knew I had to do it or get out."

It has now become one of his strengths. He recruits primarily over the telephone and has a strong network of coaches and former players who pass along tips on prospects.

"He is definitely pulling in better players than the rest of us," Barrett said. "He has good connections with the junior colleges and he recruits well out of Arkansas and then molds those players into a team." But he doesn't just blend baseball players together, he creates winners.

"Our practices are now geared toward winning," Goodheart said. "We practice the hit and run, drag bunts, scoring runners from third and taking extra bases. We work on the things it takes to win."

to Goodheart's arrival in Magnolia. SAU won or shared seven titles. In the last eight seasons, the riders have won or shared four crowns.

Goodheart has been named Coach of the Year in the AIC three times, District 17 twice, including this season, and Area V once.

Last year, the Riders entered Area play with a No. 4 national ranking. They own the same ranking again this season.

"I think we can be a top 20 team pretty consistently," Goodheart said. "But top 10...give us a few more years of doing what we've done the past few years."

What the Muleriders have done in the last few years seasons is establish themselves as the best baseball program in the AIC. In the process, they've also established a reputation on a national level.

"SAU was nothing for a while," Barrett said. "Now we see them third, fourth, 10th nationwide."

"What can I say?" Watson said. "They don't play a game and move from eight to fourth in the poll."

"But I'll tell you something, you look at their schedule and we play teams from districts in Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota and five districts in the northern United States and we beat the dog out of those people," Watson added. "And then those teams have gone back and done well in their leagues. So 'Goodheart's teams' are getting national recognition from other areas because of this."

Winning translates into confidence. SAU's players know it and opponents know it.

"I'd like for our guys to think they're in charge when they go out on the field, not be intimidated by anybody we play," Goodheart said. "We're at the point now where teams come in here and have respect for us when they play us."

"They know how to win," Barrett said. "They ooze a little confidence that seems to intimidate other teams."

Headed back to the top

The SAU track team, under the guidance of Dr. Richard Carter who took over as track coach following the resignation of Charles Moseley last year, made a surprisingly strong showing this year. Dr. Carter filled in this season until new coach, Dan Veach, can take over in the fall of 1988. SAU athletic director, W. T. Watson, said during a press conference when it was announced that Veach would be the new coach, "I am indebted to Dr. Carter for the job he has done this season." Veach vowed to do his best to return the Muleriders to a traditional force in the Aic in the near future.

Sports banquet held

SAU's athletic department held its annual all-sports banquet on May 5, honoring the Muleriders/Riderettes, and all their accomplishments, as well as others who supported the athletic department.

Special awards were given to the outstanding senior athletes in each sport: volleyball, Cheryl Darden; golf, Mac McGlaughlin; women's basketball, Gail Sanders; track, Brock Henderson; baseball, Bob Block; men's tennis, Javier Velarde; women's tennis, Sherri Bedwell; football, Alan Hafford; men's basketball, Joe Berger; men's rodeo, Darryl Livingston; women's rodeo, Sherry Lynn Rosser; rifle, Roger Chambers; and cheerleader, Gina Tomlinson.

SAU scholar athletes for 1988 were Craig Hicks and Tammy Scott.

Gail Sanders was recognized for the Auburn Smith Award which was awarded her previously at the honors convocation.

How softly evening shudders down to dusk;
its last, pale light goes trembling into dark like smoke
so softly gone
that we are stunned
by the stark, vast pall of night.

Asleep so soon?
Ah, well! God rest, old friends, your labors are done---
a brief rest now until the dawn, rose-washed as with the Savior's blood,
awakens us to fellowship again.
God rest!

Dr. Norman speaks at commencement

Dr. Cora Norman, executive director of Mississippi Humanities Council and 1986 SAU Distinguished Alumna Award recipient, was the guest speaker at the SAU commencement. Commencement activities were at 8 p. m. Friday May 13 in SAU's Wilkins Stadium.

After receiving the associate of arts degree from Magnolia A&M (SAU), she earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry from the university of Texas at El Paso and a Master's and doctoral degree from the University of Mississippi.

In 1985 Dr. Norman was elected vice-president for program development for the American Association of University Women Educational Foundation. Among her honors are the Woman of Achievement Award from the Oxford AAUW and the Ole Miss Review, in which she was one of 14 Ole Miss alumni cited for success.

Her husband is Dr. William H. Norman, a former faculty member at SAU and the University of Mississippi. They have two children, Robert H. Norman of Oxford, MS, and Judy Bratton of Murfreesboro, TN. Dr. Norman is the daughter of Mrs. Jewel Garner of Waldo and the late Robert Garner.

Brushstrokes

With brushstroke after brushstroke the patient artist seems magically to capture the picture of his dreams.

*The years are but the brushstrokes in the master artist's plan to paint for all eternity
the masterpiece of man.*
