Making Change

1992 Mulerider

I t's kind of like an explanation. What the book is about, what the year is about, what was accomplished in both, and what tried, but never got to be. The way it seemed like the year felt and how we tried to capture it.

Sn The Beginning

This tells why we decided "Making Change" suited the mood of the people and the school. This is us, the students, faculty, and staff of Southern Arkansas University in the academic year of 1991-1992. What we lived, saw, thought, and felt: the way it was.

It happens. It's inevitable. It is one of those realities of life that occurs without regard for time, reason, or convenience. Many aspects of the "real world" don't come into play while still within the walls of school, but this one definitely does. It has to occur - without it all life becomes stale and stagnant. We love it, fear it, need it, crave it, use it to plan our future and gauge our past. This thing is called "change" and we are all in a continuous stage of Making Change.

One of the most interesting qualities of change is that it affects not only us as people, but the entire world around us. Nothing is free from change. Even the seemingly steadfast bricks and mortar which comprise the buildings of our campus and greet us daily are in an unending cycle of change-come back in 40 years and that change will be visible. Some change is more readily obvious to the eye-the new art building, the beginnings of the new business-ag. building, the downfall of Soviet Russia, the departure of Dr. Brinson as SAU President and the arrival of the new President Dr. Gamble. It's here on campus, it's out there in the "real world," it is life itself-which is a series of Making Change.

HAPPENINGS

What do we do during the year? We all have many different things we do during the year. We have meetings, and classes, and jobs to go to, some of us even have families to care for and homes to keep up. "Student" is far from the only title we use, so it makes sense that classes are not the only activity we find the time to participate in. These are the events, or Happenings, that occur in our day to day life; like working on charity events, attending CAB sponsored comedians and psychics entertaining here on campus. AIDS has become an issue which affects our everyday lives, and students who live on campus see their favorite cable shows now, thanks to cable in the halls. They may be large or small, but they fill our time. Some are decidedly large - Homecoming '91, the Miss SAU pageant, graduation(for some of us). No matter what scale of importance an individual gives to measure these events, each is something that we did, wanted to do, loved, hated, were interested, saw, or experienced.

Campus groups provide community services as a means of...

giving it

Students at SAU share a common interest: helping others. Individuals help others on a one to one basis daily, with things like homework and rides to school, but the organizations on campus are the main forces who organize volunteer efforts and charity events.

Sigma Tau Gamma, Phi Lambda Chi, and Kappa Alpha Psi are some of the social fraternities on campus who have volunteered to keep certain sections of the highway around our campus clean. While Phi Beta Lambda, the business fraternity, offers volunteer Income Tax Assistance, in conjunction with the IRS, free of charge during tax season. They also sponsor the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon and set up roadblocks which raised $1,053 for the Arkansas Children's Hospital.

Phi Lamb continuously sponsors the United Blood Services on campus once a semester. The blood donation helps others in need of blood and the students who donate because the donated blood is tested for diseases, abnormalities, and iron deficiencies, and the doner is notified if anything is found. Phi Lamb also sponsors a lock-up for the American Cancer Society in which a person is put into a temporary "jail" outside of Harton Theatre and have to have donations in order to be set free.

Other organizations also held fund raising events for charity. Some of these are: Delta Sigma Theta held a "Gospel Extravaganza," the proceeds from which went to the research of sickle cell anemia; Phi Mu's Christmas time "Trim-A-Tree," funds were solicited for the American Cancer Society and each donation merited a decoration on the tree located in the front yard of the Magnolia Fire Department. Zeta Phi Beta, also, got into the act with a canned food and clothing drive for the needy that they conducted in the spring.

Moving in and Registration left students Dazed and Confused

Kathleen Braswell and Johnetta Fulford enjoy serving at the cookout.

Moving in and registration are probably the most unpleasant things the students here at Southern Arkansas University have to go through. However, with the help of various organizations around campus, these feelings were changed. On August twenty-sixth the halls opened and the fun began with the beginning of Mulerider Daze! All freshman students were invited to an orientation. The purpose of this orientation was to explain to them dorm life, financial aid, and the different organizations

"Mulerider Daze was a big success and I feel that it should become an annual event. Not only did it give the Freshman a time to get acquainted, it gave us a chance to get to know them." Rhonda Cowart on campus. That evening everyone was invited to the Great Mulerider Cookout in the mall area. The day ended with a street dance sponsored by Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity.

The next day was the dreadful event-Registration. Students who were not lucky enough to pre-pay usually had to stand in line for hours. CAB sponsored a balloon man to go through the halls where registration lines were to break some of the tension that always seems to build there.

Comedian Anthony Clark brought his own brand of humor to campus and proved that laughter really is ...

Letter jacketed comedian Anthony Clark appeared at SAU on Tuesday, October 1. Nominated for National Comedy Entertainer of the Year, Anthony is a favorite pick of colleges and clubs across the country.

Anthony entertained SAU with jokes, stories, and impressions of friends, relatives, and people we all know that created a comical world which closely reflected our own. His impression of a cheerleader and the story about his sister, who wore headgear and could only eat applesauce, were sources of laughter long after his show was over.

Anthony has appeared on numerous TV shows, such as "Entertainment Tonight," MTV's "Half-Hour Comedy Hour," and "An Evening At The Improv," as well as at such colleges as the Universities of Harvard, Houston, Miami, Florida, Lehigh, Pepperdine, and Southern Methodist.

Saturday, September 21 is when this year's Family Day was held. Family Day, formerly Parent's Day, is organized so that students families can have a chance to see where the students live, study, and eat. They can also see a Rider football game and some interesting planned events.

The day started with a registration in the Bruce center. Many campus organizations had displays there to tell about their purpose and activities. The next event was the time honored bed race. This event draws more people each year than it did the previous year since it's ten year ago inception on campus. The double elimination race finally rendered Talbot as the winner, as they have been for the past two years. The Psychology Club rolled away with the Best Decorated Bed contest. After the Race there was a reception in the Halls, followed then by the Great Greek Canoe Race.

WHAT- EVER ROWS YOUR BOAT

This is the second year for the race, which is rapidly gaining popularity. Phi Lambda Chi won the fraternity division, while Phi Mu championed the event for the second straight year. And, of course, there were the tip - overs and push - ins that everyone turned out in hopes of seeing. The day culminated with a resounding Rider Football win over East Texas University.

HOMECOMING. . .

Something to believe in Anticipation put a spark in many a students' eye as Homecoming, one of the most happily awaited events of the school year, approached. Organizations throughout the school became preoccupied in the preparation of Homecoming displays and deciding which female member they would nominate for Homecoming Court. Over 20 anxious court nominees filled the seats of the Greek Theater where the seven lucky members of the 1991 SAU Homecoming Court were announced: Tammie Smith, Dana Pierce, Kathy Medley, Kim Davenport, Kelly Clark, Michelle Cook, and Queen Lesley Fincher.

October 12th had all the earmarks of a fantastic Homecoming day. Events such as an Alumni Open House, a Homecoming Reception, and a pep rally for a last minute dose of spirit paved the road for the 2:00 o'clock kickoff of the Homecoming football game against Henderson. Following a first quarter Southern Arkansas lead, Henderson awakened to turn the tide against the Riders and came off with a decisive 34-15 victory over SAU.

Spirits were down following the game, but many social activities such as parties and a step competition were held Homecoming night to end the festivities with a splash of excitement.

Greekin' Out

During the fall semester the Inter-Greek Council organized the events for the ever anticipated Greek Week. The week that was to be set aside was October 21-25. This was the second annual greek week and by the overall participation from the greeks it was the best.

The week got started off with a basketball tournament in the old armory Tuesday night. Sigma Gamma Rho and Phi Beta Sigma were the victorious fraternity and sorority. On Wednesday afternoon everyone met in the mall area for the three legged race and obstacle course. Phi Mu won both of these events in the sorority category and Sigma Tau Gamma won the Three-legged race and Alpha Phi Alpha won the obstacle course in the fraternity division. On Thursday afternoon all greeks met down at the duck pond to compete in the canoe race. Phi Mu Sorority and Phi Lambda Chi fraternity were both winners in each of their divisions. Friday night was set aside for an awards ceremony at the Greek Theatre. A spirit award was given to the sorority and fraternity who had earned the most points during the week. These points could be earned by participating and/or winning an event. Phi Mu sorority and Alpha Phi Alpha both captured this coveted award.

Something old

Something new. . .

Upon their return, SAU students discovered many changes had taken place over the summer that improved both the quality and the beauty of the SAU campus. The most noticeable difference came with the recent addition of the Brinson Art Building, which had been under construction since February 1991. Over twice the size of the art building which had been in use, it contains studios designed specifically for specialized media, such as photography and computer labs, and oil painting and water color studios open to the balcony. The building was also designed to present much more professional art exhibits, an asset to both SAU art students and guest artists. Slated for completion in January, its halls and classrooms were filled with students during the spring semester.

Another welcome change was renovations in the cafeteria. The addition of several specialty bars, a cold sandwich bar, four traditional entrees, fresh pizza, and a dessert and vegetable island. An acoustic ceiling and wall were added for better sound, creating more of a restaurant instead of mess hall environment. New tables and chairs were added along with a rotary belt that carries trays, which eliminated food waste in the return area. The renovations, begun last summer, were completed in time for fall classes.

All in all, the new changes had a positive effect on the student body. Having been long anticipated, they served to make campus life a little easier and more enjoyable for the student.

Pressing The Flesh

Mr. Bill Clinton, Governor of the great state of Arkansas, decided during the year that running for the job of President of the United States might be just what he needed to do. So, he spent some time traveling around the state asking his fellow Arkansans if they minded if he broke his promise that he made during his gubernatorial race that he would definitely not run for President, and the majority of the people seemed to be behind his running for the office. Shortly thereafter, Gov. Clinton began his campaign for the Democratic nomination. Clinton was at first looked on as a dark horse candidate at best by the press, but soon showed that he would not be dropping out any time soon. Then he was looked on by the press, at one time or another, as a number of other things. Clinton was accused of having an affair with a then local news broadcaster, Jennifer Flowers. Gov. Clinton and wife, Hillary, appeared on national television for the sole purpose of clearing the air on that issue, which was never really cleared, but we at least were told by the two that anything that did or did not happen there was not a problem for the couple, and that Hillary was not the type of woman who felt she must "stand by her man" no matter what he pulled. So, the press went to work again and pulled out the issue of whether or not he dodged the draft during Vietnam. They chewed on that for a while until someone found out

Kansas official to avoid doing jail time. The Gov. graced many newspapers and magazines during this time period. Some of them were pleasant, but the fact of the matter is that most of them hounded him. Through all the bad press, though, Gov. Clinton must have been doing something right because the people are not letting the press sway their opinions on the matter - Clinton has done very, very well so far in the race and has long outlasted most of the other, more favored by the press, candidates in his run for office.

Crested Butte now

The Campus Activities Board of Southern Arkansas University sponsored one of its most popular events, the annual ski vacation, beginning January 5th. 90 students, faculty, alumni, and friends spent five days and six nights in Mount Crested Butte, a vacation village in the mountains of Colorado's Western Slope, which offers skiers 817 acres of skiable terrain. Following a big snowstorm on the second day, the vacationers were fortunate enough to have good powder for the remainder of their stay. Social activities abounded and new friendships were formed, making the trip both enjoyable and rewarding.

Cableized

FREE

This year was the first that the Magnolia Cable Company opened its service to the residents in all six dorms on campus. This service was offered because of all the complaints by students of poor reception. It was nearly impossible to receive any local channels on a television in the dorms, and if you were lucky enough to hear the station, you wouldn't likely be able to see it with all the static. This all ended the fall semester for those that purchased cable.

The Magnolia cable company offered basic cable which consisted of twelve channels, Premium cable which consisted of thirty-one channels and also various movie channels. Most of the students on campus purchased the basic cable because of the cost. However, there were the few that couldn't resist having the full package. Whether students had the smallest package or the biggest, it was a much needed service.

DORM SWEET DORM

Living in the dorms is a new experience for anyone. The first couple of weeks can be the most stressful; especially if you don't know your roommate. You have to learn to share almost everything. This can be very difficult especially when you just met. However, once you have overcome this situation dorm life can be the most rewarding experience you have ever had.

The biggest advantage dorm life offers is freedom. You are no longer under your parents wing. You are able to make your own decisions and do what you want to. "I feel that dorm life helped me meet new people and get involved. Also being in the dorms taught me a sense of responsibility and the freedom to make my own decisions," said Shawntell Treas.

"Meeting my roommate for the first time was a very scary experience. It took us awhile to get to know each other but once we did we became very good friends." Rachelle Jones

Spencers For Hire

The husband and wife magic and illusion team of Kevin and Cindy Spencer performed for the SAU student body in Harton Theatre on Wednesday, February 5.

The Spencers put on a very humorous and entertaining show by combining state-of-the-art illusions with comedy, audience participation, and special effects. The Spencer's magic is a combination of many styles. Their non-traditional approach to this ancient art delivers a first-class performance that is enthusiastically received not only by the audience at SAU, but by audiences everywhere.

The Spencer's have appeared at many colleges, as well as throughout the US, Canada, Mexico, New Zealand and Australia. They appear in theatres and resorts, on cable and network television, and as special entertainment for corporate events. The act drew the largest crowds of any CAB sponsored entertainer this year.

FOLKS!

For the past two years, CAB has brought Fun Flicks Totally Interactive Video to the campus three times. This year they were here in the Bruce Center on September 20 and February 3.

Students get to make their own videos by lip-synching to any one of numerous songs and choosing from a multitude of backdrops. They were on the open road, surrounded by Chippendale dancers, with cowboys and even with Superman. What makes the videos especially fun is the wide array of costumes to choose from. After the video has been recorded, the participants keep a copy of their efforts.

Fun Flicks is sponsored by the Kramer agency. Kramer has been selected for the past three years as the Agency of the Year by the National Association of Campus Activities.

Watching the videos be created was almost as much fun as being the "star."

SHOOTING STAR

Country music recording artist Tracy Lawrence has an album out that has gone gold, "Sticks And Stones," and has hit singles from it high on the charts, such as the title track "Sticks And Stones," "Today's Lonely Fool," "Paris, Tennessee," and "April's Fool." The man's career is really taking off.

So? He's a rising young country star. There are lots of them, what's the difference here? The difference is that the 24 year old Atlantic recording artist was born in Texarkana, Texas, raised in Foreman, Arkansas, and was a member of the SAU student body from 1987-1989. While on campus Tracy was a member of Sigma Pi fraternity.

In August of 1990 Tracy left school and loaded up his Corolla, headed for Nashville. After only seven months (a miraculously short time for Nashville), Tracy landed a contract with Atlantic Recording Studios. It didn't take long for the record to prove that he was worth the risk.

Although it's what he's wanted to do all of his life, Lawrence says the road is long and it's tough not ever seeing friends. But it's like he said, "Those who dare to dream will someday rule the world - and those who accept the world as it is, will someday be trampled by the dreamers." (Tracy Lawrence 1991)

It's All In Your Mind

On January 21, Craig Karges walked on stage at SAU and mystified his audience.

Craig is a mentalist, an ESP showman, and the things he does on stage are astounding. He made tables "walk" on stage and then levitate into the air, three finger rings were borrowed from members of the audience and linked together in a chain-then unlinked, he read the serial number from a dollar bill while blindfolded, risked being shot in the head by having to pick, from two guns, the gun that was not loaded, and was able to duplicate a drawing being thought of by an audience member.

He has been named Entertainer of the Year by the International Psychic Entertainers Association, and has toured many college campuses and been featured in several TV programs.

DOWN UNDER

If you are often glued to the TV when Jacques Cousteau and his merry crew aboard the Calypso explore the ocean, then you're in for a treat.

Southern Arkansas University is offering a new scuba class. There has been a class or two offered before, but reports of unreliability made students wary of the class.

Now, however, Eddie James, master diving instructor and owner of EJ's Diving in Arkadelphia, is the class instructor. This, along with having in the class several assistant instructors, one of whom is SAU art instructor Steve Ochs, gives the class a definite stability.

Ochs is quoted as saying, "This class teaches orientation and basic skills of scuba diving. It trains the student to be a certified diver. Scuba diving is very exciting, it's also the safest water sport around."

The course cost of $150 covers the use of equipment, and, at the end of the course, the students must leave the SAU pool and earn their certification in a natural body of water.

BREAKING AWAY

On April 8, SAU turned out into the mall area for Spring Fling '92. SGA and CAB once again organized the event.

The activities began at noon with a treasure hunt and were followed by a horseshoe toss and a pie throwing contest at 1:00; later, there was a canoe race at the duck pond. Some of the other activities included: water balloon toss, wheelbarrow race, Lifesaver pass, arm wrestling competition, limbo contest, taco eating competition, leap frog, obstacle course, blind water balloon toss, Sexy Legs contest, volleyball competition, egg toss, grapefruit pass and a dunking booth. There was also the Spider Web (velcro wall), a button making table and a face painting booth, as well as The Record Biz (in which students made vocal recordings) and Cash Explosion (cash and prizes were won). Comedian and juggler Bill Fry performed for the crowds.

On March 14 Southern Arkansas University held the Miss SAU pageant. Melissa Dawn Daniel was chosen as the reigning Miss SAU 1991. She will represent the school at this year's Miss Arkansas Pageant and will also represent the school at many other functions and events in the year to come. Miss Daniel's talent was a vocal solo.

Other contestants who placed in the pageant were Lori MacDougall, Miss Congeniality; Kristi Creech, talent winner and second runner-up; and Keshia Gray, first runner-up.

Miss Magnolia, Beth Ann Rankin and SAU student Michael Walters performed vocal solos as entertainment. Dr. Dan Skelton once again emceed the pageant and Phi Lambda Chi sponsored it.

The Long Walk

The Commencement ceremony for the May class of 1992 took place Friday, May 15, at 8:00 pm in Wilson Stadium.

The Commencement Marshalls were Dr. Larry McNeal, Mrs. Pat Williams, Dr. Don Haefner, and Dr. Delwin Ross. Dr. Dykema led the Processional and Recessional, while Dr. Kelsay conducted the choral music. Dr. Don Nelson said the Invocation, after which President Gamble presented the guests. Later, Dr. Lovell presented President Gamble as the speaker. Dr. Lovell also presented the candidates and Dr. Gamble conferred the degrees as Mr. Jim Genandt announced the graduates. The deans from each school presented the diplomas. Finally, the Benediction was presented by Dr. Gayle White.

The Graduation ceremony was followed by a reception for the graduates, faculty, and families in the Bruce University Center.

THE LONG HAUL

Derrick Salisberry looks for an opening.

Sports here have made some definite changes this year. Although the football team didn't have the dynamite come-back season it did last year, we still had a great season, finishing in the top five in conference play. Our men's basketball team won conference, again. Soccer, the newest and most unique sport on campus, was added this year, and Intramural Sports continues to grow in terms of sports offered and students who participate. The opportunity to stretch our athletic legs continued. Whatever happened, whoever won, however important it was at the time, SAU students learned the truth about winning - it really isn't everything. However, it sure is nice when it works out that way!

Derrick Saulsberry Sr. Running Back

Derrick Saulsberry lead the Riders to a seven and four season. His career stats add up to 392 rushes for 2,029 yards and a total of 12 touchdowns. Saulsberry averaged 5.2 yards per carry and 92.2 yards for game. Seventy-four SAU points go to the credit of Saulsberry. While playing at SAU he was All-AIC for 1990 and 1991 and NAIA Honorable Mention All-American for 1990 and 1991. As a junior, Saulsberry rushed for one touchdown as well as catching a touchdown pass in 1990 Aztec Bowl in Mexico City, Mexico. Saulsberry transferred from Louisiana State University after starting and lettering as a true freshman for the Tigers. He began his career as a wide receiver under Bill Arnsbarger. Saulsberry's deceptive quickness and speed helped to lead the Riders to set a new team total rushing record.

Coming On Strong

Southern Arkansas University's football Muleriders had one of those years--not bad, not good, and just THAT close to really exciting. Depending on how one looks at it, they went 6 and 5 or 7 and 4. Admittedly, 7 and 4 sounds better but then one has to throw in the disconcerting fact that the better record comes as a result of Henderson State University's having to forfeit their win over the Riders, and that sort of takes the thrill away. Anyway, officially the Riders went 7 and 4 overall--not bad but not so good. The conference record for the Riders was 4 and 2. That sounds pretty good but then it only adds up to third in the conference standings--not so good. More than any other event of the season, the heartbreaking loss to the UCA Bears has to symbolize the Mulerider season. The Riders whipped those Bear butts in every category--except final score--losing to them in an agonizing last second effort to slip across the goal line. Good, just not good enough. Probably no one really doubts that that moment marked the dividing line between a pretty good season and a really great one.

Senior John Launius

John Launius, a senior at Southern Arkansas University, has definitely been an asset to Mulerider Football. Launius, a three year letterman from Arkadelphia, was recruited to SAU under Coach Rob Hicklin in 1988. Since Head Coach Don Tumey has been at SAU, Launius has proved himself time and time again. Launius showed to the greatest extent his abilities when he lead SAU to the 1990 Aztec Bowl in Mexico City, Mexico. Launius earned his position as starting quarterback in the seventh game of his freshman season. This past season Launius showed his skills once again by rushing a total of 195 net yards and made 2 touchdowns. Launius has worked hard for the past four years and his hard work paid off in the long run.

Cedric Williams

All-AIC

It's one of the highlights of Mulerider basketball. Cedric Williams streaks down the court on a fast break. Near to the goal, he kicks in a fresh burst of energy, pulls the ball in, and then you do believe a man can fly. He tucks up his legs and, like an eagle, just soars, seems to ride upwards on thermal currents or something, right up to the basket where he lays the ball in with a featherlight touch. Two points! Beautiful! Awesome!

Cedric's high energy brand of basketball is genuinely crowd pleasing, but it is far from being the play of a flashy showboat. Cedric is a team player with excellent concentration and focus. His contribution to the Mulerider basketball program has earned him the kudos of the fans, the respect of his coaches, the trust of his teammates, and this year All-AIC honors.

Dribbling Past 'Em

The 1991-92 Mulerider basketball team was the little team that could. I'm not sure that, at the start of the season, anyone really imagined that the Ingram-Biley Choo Choo was going to turn into the Mulerider Cannon Ball, but it did, and it was a great train ride while it lasted, even if the train didn't quite make it into the Kansas City Station. The Muleriders wound up with an 18-8 overall record and went 12-6 in conference play. And that was good enough for them to earn second place honors in the conference and a birth in the District 17 Finals where they ran out of steam against a determined UAM team. The Rider railroad line did have one problem! It ran much better in its own round house than when it went out on the road. At home the Riders dominated impressively with a 13-1 record. On the road, they fared far worse, chugging to a poor 5-7 record.

Derrick Glass Junior

Derrick Glass, guard, a junior, from Houston, TX, has shown tremendous talent this past basketball season. Glass transferred to Southern Arkansas University from Panola Junior College in Texas. This past season, Derrick Glass was one of the Mulerider's principal players. Glass was the lead scorer with an 18.3 average per game. He had a season high of 32 points in one game! Now that is impressive! He had a total of 94 rebounds, which averaged 3.8 per game. Glass made 81% of all his free-throws. This is talent. The Muleriders are very fortunate that Derrick Glass will be returning next season. Glass will most likely be a leading player next year also.

Probably the most important element of the Mulerider basketball team this season was team play and balance. In years past, the Riders have seemed to key their play around the outstanding talents of one or two players. This season the emphasis was on a mutual benefit society, and everyone prospered. For example, scoring was distributed over four principal players: Derrick Glass lead with an 18.28 average. He was followed by Cedric Williams with 14.26, Eric Gilkey with 12.26, and Carey McGill with 11.52. Also, Tony Burnell, part of the strong Rider bench, could burn the net from three point land and wound up with a 7.71 average. This scoring quintet, combined with Danny Thomas's defensive play that was a combination of both savage and subtle, propelled the Riders into a serious title hunt. If they had played better on the road, they might have gone all the way; however "IF" is a big word. If a frog had wings, he wouldn't bump his bottom when he landed.

The word is that recruiting has turned up some outstanding prospects, and that's good because graduation is taking Derrick Norwood, Darrell Harris, and perhaps worst of all, team leader Eric Gilkey.

Gina Norman All-AIC

Senior Gina Norman was named to the All-AIC team for 1991. Norman transferred to Southern Arkansas University from Phillip's Community College. After laying out of basketball for a year, Gina Norman came back in full swing. Norman is a hard worker and a dedicated player. According to Coach Judy Bourne, Gina has had a great impact on the team. As Senior co-captain of the team, Norman dominated the boards consistently in offensive and defensive rebounds as well as scoring. She was really aggressive under the backboard. This is Norman's last year of Riderette basketball. Gina has contributed a lot to the team and her hard work has paid off.

Gina Norman lays up 2 points against Arkansas Baptist.

Up For The Rebound

What adjective can describe the 1991-92 Riderette basketball season? Disappointing? Unsatisfying? Both of those surely, but maybe erratic is the word that best sums up the season. What else can one say about a team that goes 11-7 for the season and posts a conference record of 4 and 12? Was there talent on the team? Tons of it! Just consider Kathy Medley, Gina Norman, Carolyn Mack, and Deidra Williams as a team nucleus, and you know at once that talent was not the problem. The ladies coming off the bench weren't exactly slouches either. No! Talent was not the problem. Consider the fact that these ladies played the Tech Golden Suns (an awesome team with national ranking that eventually went on to win a national title) right down to the wire, losing in the final seconds by ten points in a game that was far closer than the final score revealed. On the other hand, one mustn't forget that these same Riderettes played a first half of basketball at the University of the Ozarks in which they couldn't buy, beg, borrow, or steal a basket. ERRATIC!

Kathy Medley Sophomore

Kathy Medley, forward, a sophomore, from Canton, TX, has definitely showed us what she is made of this past basketball season. This Riderette led the team in scoring with a 14.82 average. Kathy was also a primary rebounder. She was second on the team in rebounding with 7.2 rebounds per game. Dedication is the adjective to describe Medley. This past season Medley had a season high of 31 points. She also had 201 total rebounds. Way to go! Kathy Medley has certainly become a great asset to Riderette Basketball. SAU is very fortunate that Medley will be coming back next year. After losing 4 good ones this year, Medley will help to carry the team next year.

Up For The Rebound

The Ozark game may very well underscore one of the fatal flaws of this season's Riderettes. These ladies can play defensive ball with the best. Case in point, they out-rebounded their opponents 142 to 122; however, they missed 1,333 shots while their opponents only goofed shooting 1,160 times. The Riderettes leading scorer was Kathy Medley with a 14.82 average. She is followed by Gina Norman with 11.79 and Carolyn Mack with 9.07. Only two players scoring in double figures just can't generate the kind of points needed to stave off the competition in the AIC.

So, the season's over and there's not much point in crying over the spilt milk. What can we look forward to next season? The bad news is that the Riderettes lose four good ones for sure: Norman, Mack, Riley, and Williams. No one knows what the gods of attrition will do with any of the others. Let's hope the girls stick. The good news is that the Riderettes have signed four promising freshman, of whom give every indication of becoming hot shooting hands for the 92-93 season.

Clockwise: Medley and the team grapple for the ball. Deidra Williams goes step-for-step with a Sun player. Laurie gates bends over backwards to play ball. Darra Stringer has a grip on the situation.

John Romero

It's difficult to single out any particular senior baseball player when one has a team absolutely crammed with outstanding senior talent. However, John Romero has been one of the most reliable work horses and power hitters for the last two years. Ever since Romero transferred to SAU from a Nevada junior college, he has anchored the Mulerider batting order. His play at first base is both aggressive and impressive. The team has an overall record of 31-24 this year, but Romero has continued to swing a ball-breaking bat and has amassed an impressive year's statistics.

John started in 49 of 49 games and came to the plate 145 times, rapping out 44 hits and scoring 32 times. Eleven of those hits were homeruns. Romero's batting average for the season is a hefty .303. The heavy hitter has 41 runs batted in and, in spite of his burly size, stole 12 bases on 13 attempts. He struck out only 10 times and walked 25 times. Romero's slugging percentage is a whopping .600.

Tommy Stewart attempts to bunt against Hastings College.

Stealing Home

The Southern Arkansas University Mulerider Baseball team ended a streak this year. For the first time in six years, the Riders have not won the AIC championship. This year the Riders came in second behind the Wonder Boys of Arkansas Tech University. The feeling of being second is definitely not one that Coach Steve Goodheart intends to get accustomed to. In the last two games of the regular season, Goodheart's Riders, playing for nothing but pride, swept both games of a double header with league leading Arkansas Tech. Without question, the lackluster 31-24 season record has been a downer for the Rider team and fans. But hey! It's not like we're in the cellar. I mean, being in second place and in serious contention for the District 17 title hardly indicates a bunch of losers. Nevertheless, Goodheart, the players, and the fans have, in the last half-dozen years, come to expect more-much more-from Mulerider baseball.

Stealing Home

Three trips to the NAIA World Series without a crown just breeds the desire to get back there one more time. Like the players tell opposing teams, "We just keep coming at you." So, at the time of this writing, (May 1) Southern Arkansas University's Baseball Team is in hot pursuit of another World Series trip. They clubbed Harding's Bisons twice today, and it appears that hard-nosed hard ball is the name of the game. If the Riders win a berth, and they just might, they will have proved that being number two was just a fluke, a momentary lapse of the leagues real number one team.

Bryan Ledford Senior

The Southern Arkansas University will be unhappy to lose the amazing talents of Bryan Ledford next baseball season. Ledford, a senior from Texarkana, AR, played his final season of eligibility this past spring. Ledford led the team in runs scored with 52 points. He had 50 hits in 163 bats. Ledford had 28 singles, 12 doubles, and 10 home runs! Now that's impressive! When Ledford was on the field he definitely had his priorities straight - on the game. Bryan Ledford was a great First Baseman and he will be missed next season.

Tracy Morgan-Grigsby All AIC

Tracy Morgan-Grigsby was named to the All-AIC team, sharing that honor with team mate Rhonda Haynes. Grigsby was an absolute assassin on the court, establishing the impressive record of 418 kills - an average of 4.14 per game or 41.5 percent. Grigsby led the team with an ace percentage of 7.8. That deadly skill earned her the 19th spot in the nation for kills as well as NAIA Honorable Mention All-America. Grigsby also finished the season with 154 blocks, 283 digs, and a serve received efficiency of 75 percent.

Set It Down & Spike It Up

Southern Arkansas University's Riderette volleyball team finished the season with an overall record of 23-7. The Riderettes placed second in the AIC with a 10-2 record. The team made it to the finals of the NAIA District 17 tournament, but were unfortunately defeated by AIC champion Harding University. The Riderette's season was highlighted by having two players named to AIC: Rhonda Haynes and Tracy Morgan-Grigsby. Overall, the volleyball team had a great season and are hoped to have even a better one next year.

Making Some Raquet

The 1991-92 Rider tennis team ended up finishing their season with an overall record of 17-4. They ended up placing second in the AIC with a 7-1 record. The Riders went on to win the NAIA District 17 tournament to earn a berth at the National Tournament in Kansas City, MO. The Rider's season was highlighted by having three players named All-AIC: Kevin Eby, Jason Moore, and Bruno Simon. Head Coach Chris Blair was also named AIC Coach of the Year. This year the tennis team had a very impressive year. They will be gaining a new head coach next year, Eric Sixbey. The Riders should have a very prosperous season next year.

Bruno Simon All-AIC

Senior Bruno Simon made the All-AIC Team for 1991-92 tennis season. Bruno is originally from Montreal, Canada, but presently resides in Houston, TX. He has been at SAU for three years and has participated in Rider tennis all three years with honors. Being an outstanding athlete, Bruno has made the All-AIC team two years in a row. Bruno is a 1992 graduate of Southern Arkansas University with a Business Degree. He was a great asset to Rider tennis and will be missed next tennis season.

Brenda Thompson All-AIC

Senior Brenda Thompson made the All-AIC Team this past tennis season. Brenda has been on SAU's tennis team for the past four years receiving several honors. She has made Honorable Mention AIC for the past two years. She was recruited while playing at Magnolia High School. Brenda is a Marketing Major and will be graduating in December of 1992. This was Brenda's last year of SAU tennis. She did a great job while she was here and will be missed next season.

Serving It Up

This year's women's tennis team wound up with a 7-7 record and finished third in the AIC with a 7-5 record. Although it was just an okay season, the women did have a few highlights of the season. Becky Barnes and Amanda Smith's doubles team made it to the finals at the district meet. Christy Cox won the number two flight at district, and Brenda Thompson made the All-AIC Team. Coach Shoppach recruited freshmen Wendy Livingston and Amanda Smith last summer and the team is definitely looking forward to next season. All the women will be returning next tennis season except Senior Brenda Thompson. She will be graduating in December of 1992.

Marcus Murphy All-AIC

Marcus Murphy, an outstanding trackster, was one of the seven to make the All-AIC Team this track season. Murphy was also one of the people to compete in the NAIA National Outdorr Track and Championships held in Abbotsford, B.C., Canada. Marcus placed third in the nation in the 100 Meters with a time of 10.56. He was also a member of the 400 Meter Relay team who took first place in the nation with a time of 40.82. Marcus Murphy was also among the four who were named All-American from Southern Arkansas University.

On The Right Track

The Rider track team ended up finishing third in the AIC this Year. Seven members of the team made the All-AIC team: Sherman Evans, Shannon Heard, Rufus Kemp, Marcus Murphy, Keith Smith, Nat Shaddix, and Keffus Wilkerson.

Several of the tracksters went on to compete in the NAIA National Outdoor Track and Field Championships held in Abbotsford, B.C., Canada. Marcus Murphy placed third in the nation in the 100Meters with a time of 10.56. The men's 400 Meter Relay team took first place in the nation with a time of 40.82, beating out Azusa Pacific which finished second with a time of 40.86. Members of SAU's Relay team were Shannon Heard, Keith Smith, Sherman Evans, and Marcus Murphy. All four of these men were named All-American.

Derrick Gray is definitely the "Man in Motion."

Tracy Morgan-Grigsby All-AIC

Tracy Morgan-Grigsby is not only an outstanding athlete in volleyball, but also in track. Tracy was one of SAU's women tracksters who helped to win their second consecutive AIC title this season. Tracy went to compete in the National Championships, placing fourth in the nation in the long jump with a leap of 18' 11 1/2", and fifth in the triple jump with a jump of 38' 9 3/4". She was also in the 400 Meter Relay team which placed third with a time of 46.95. She was also among the four women who were named All-American. Tracy Morgan-Grigsby is definitely an outstanding athlete and asset to Southern Arkansas University.

Off The Beaten Track

The SAU's women tracksters won their second consecutive AIC title this season. Six of the ladies were named All-AIC: Sherita Betts, Michelle Cook, Tracy Morgan-Grigsby, Stephanie Manning, Barbara Simmons, and Darra Stringer. The women went on to compete in the National Championships, also. Grigsby finished fourth in the nation in the long jump with a leap of 18' 11 1/2", and fifth in the triple jump with a jump of 38' 9 3/4". The 400 Meter Relay team finished third with a time of 46.95. Members of the relay team were Stepanie Manning, Barbara Simmons, Sherita Betts, and Tracy Morgan-Grigsby. All four of these young women were also named to the All-AIC team. Head Coach Dan Veach was named AIC women's Coach of The Year for the second year in a row.

Both the men's and women's teams finished 16th in the nation at the National Championships.

Up To Par

The Rider Golfers ended up finishing fourth in the AIC this past season. Preston Tuberville ended up as the second high individual for the season with an average score of 75.4 in the AIC. Kelly Davidson was eighth in the conference with an average of 77.8. Both men were chosen for the All-AIC Team. Tuberville and Davidson were probably the most consistent golfers this season.

The Rider Golfers went to Heber Springs, Hot Springs, Benton, NS Jacksonville for various different tournaments. They participated in a tournament in Mineral Wells, Texas, over Spring Break, placing tenth overall.

Preston Tuberville All-AIC

Preston Tuberville, a sophomore from Magnolia, AR, made the All-AIC Team. Tuberville also made All-AIC last year as a freshman - the first freshman to make All-AIC since 1984. According to Coach Roger Dunlap, Tuberville is very consistent. There is a definite possibility that Tuberville will dominate the conference next season. Tuberville has a stroke average of 72.6 and was second in the AIC. Dunlap says that he is a hard worker and is very dedicated to the sport. With Tuberville's daily practices he has a promising future in golf.

Leaders Of The Packs

Hard work, dedication, and patience - the coaches of Southern Arkansas University all make it come together. The coaches have to recruit the talent and then work it to its full potential. Many coaches at SAU have received honors this year for their outstanding talents. Head Coach Dan Veach, track coach, was named AIC women's Coach of The Year for the second year in a row. Head Coach Chris Blair was named AIC men's tennis Coach of The Year. Coach Steve Goodheart got AIC Coach of The Year too many years to even count. Coaching is definitely not a job you can leave at the office. Coaches are always planning strategies, working on new plays, and recruiting new athletes for the coming years. A coaches job is never done - at least SAU's coaches.

For The Fun Of It

Intramural sports is one activity on campus that is enjoyable to most students. After going to class all day students want to have a little fun. One way to do this is to sign up for intramurals. Whether it be baseball, football, basketball, or volleyball it's a great way to have some fun and meet a lot of new people. A number of the groups who participated were made up of members from different organizations including fraternities, sororities, and professional organizations.

Intramural sports continue to grow here at Southern Arkansas University in popularity and the future of the program looks more and more promising with the constant addition of new activities and participants.

Behind The Scenes

Mulerider Sports is not always fun and games. Within the year there are always athletes getting hurt. This is when our SAU trainers are needed. Coach Ken Cole has been the head of the athletic training program now for the past three years. This program helps to prepare men and women in the field of sports medicine and is one of the few of its kind in the state.

Each trainer is assigned to a sport in which they work with the entire year. These trainers work long and hard hours for our athletic department. Everything they do, from the use of whirlpools to muscle stimulation on athletes, helps prepare them for their future careers.

Every year the trainers are a big help in treating injuries and helping prevent injuries also.

The Right Stuff

Southern Arkansas University held it's All Sports Banquet again this year in May. Every year SAU's athletes work extremely hard and this is when it all pays off. This year there were 16 awards given. The awards were as follows: Baseball: John Romero, Men's Basketball: Eric Gilkey, Women's Basketball: Deidra Williams and Carolyn Mack, Football: John Launius, Golf: Preston Tuberville, Rodeo: Julie Munnerlyn, Men's Tennis: Bruno Simon, Women's Tennis: Brenda Thompson, Women's Track: Tracy Morgan-Grigsby, Volleyball: Tracy Morgan-Grigsby, Cheerleader: Dawn Dyer, Athletic Trainer: Beau Bridges, Scholar Athletes of the Year, Men: Shane Noe (Football), Women: Brenda Thompson (Tennis).

Of course, the highest honor and most prestigious award at SAU is the Auburn Smith Award. This is awarded to the person who best carries on the traditions and values of Coach Auburn Smith. Mr. Smith was an outstanding coach at SAU and now serves on SAU's Board of Trustees. This year's receipiant was Shane Noe (Football).

In addition to all of the regularly presented concerts, this year Mr. Epperson conceived of and executed the "Merry Christmas Concert," consisting of the SAU Jazz Band and Wind Ensemble. The bands played a mixture of traditional and more modern music perfect for the season.

Stranger Than Most

"The Foreigner" was the closing play of the season and it ran from April 23 through the 25th. Dr. Dan Skelton directed the comedy, written by Larry Shue.

The play dealt with an anxious, depressed man who, with the help of a friend, decides to pass himself off as a foreigner who speaks no English. The play takes off when he is befriended by a screeching inn keeper, confided to by a young, pregnant, rich woman who is in love with the often gone minister, Rev. David. Who also happens to be running the local chapter of the KKK with the help of an over-eagar friend.

After the hustle and bustle of the new school year died down, students began to look around the campus for activities to occupy their free time. These activities often came in the form of organizations. With over 30 organizations to choose from, the choices were many and provided something interesting for everyone. One change that improved students' exposure to these organizations was the Organizations Fair held during the first week of school, where various organizations set up tables on the sidewalk in front of Harton Theater. Other changes came with the addition of several new clubs, such as Pivot Point. Whatever the interest, the organizations of SAU enriched campus life for students and helped them develop new interests to become well-rounded individuals.

Fast on the Draw

Steve Gipson was part of the Campus Activities Board entertainment on October 24, 1991. Mr. Gipson provided entertaining caricatures of students during the morning hours and a comedy show using caricatures of famous persons during the noon hour. The students enjoyed having themselves portrayed in cartoon-like bodies. The comedy show was filled with political satire and memories of music from the 1970's as he created images of Elvis, President Bush and others.

Gipson was a cartoonist for HBO during the 1980's. He now tours the country entertaining at clubs and colleges. All in all, Gipson provided a humorous look at today's society and the people in it.

Record Breakers

During the year, Phi Beta Lambda was recognized for its numerous achievements. At the 1991 National Leadership Conference, the chapter received thirteen national awards, including first place honors for Mr. and Mr. Future Business Executive. This marks the first time in PBL history that both of these prestigious awards were won by the same chapter.

Phi Beta Lambda offered many services to the community and the university. Members contributed over 250 hours in community service work, including tutoring at the Magnolia Boys and Girls Club, raising funds for the Arkansas Children's Hospital, and coordinating the March of Dimes WalkAmerica. On campus, members participated in the SAU Foundation Phonathon and the SAU Spring Clean, recruited for SAU, and organized the School of Business Awards Banquet.

In addition, leadership development was a goal with the chapter implementing its first Chapter Management Series, modeled after the national program. During the Chapter Management Series, the officers attended workshops. They also attended all 1991-92 National, Regional, and State Leadership Conferences.

The chapter offered members numerous opportunities for professional growth. Mr. Ronald LeMay, President of U S Sprint, Incorporated, presented an excellent chapter program on Effective Interview Techniques. The chapter also sponsored a five-part series on personal marketing skills.

Tod Holtzclaw, president, and Dr. Terrye Todd, faculty advisor, led the SAU chapter of Phi Beta Lambda to another successful finish in May by winning the Sweepstakes Award in state competitions. This included 14 first-place awards, 8 second-place awards, and 4 third-place awards.

Up the Creek

The last weekend of April was a weekend of travel, laughing, cooking out, getting cold in the river, and soaking up the warmth of the sun. April 23-26 was a special weekend for twenty students, Dr. Hugh Johnson, and Bro. Bill Eason.

A trip to float the Buffalo River was co-sponsored by the Wesley Foundation and the Biology Cdub. The trip began on Thursday when the students and faculty journeyed to Camp Orr. Thursday night started out great as each person brought their own steak which was cooked over an outdoor fire.

Friday was the first of two days of floating. This journey was from Camp Orr to Ozark Point. The ten mile trip was taken leisurely from about 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Canoe traffic was light and the river was relatively calm, but still many managed to turn over in their canoes. Some mishaps looked as if they may have happened on purpose. The journey back to Camp Orr was a time to reflect on the beauty of this creation we call earth in the form of Spring green trees, cool clean waters, and rock bluffs extending way, way up in the sky.

Saturday's floating from Ponca back to Camp Orr was more rapid in some ways. A little more speed, more rapids, and more big rocks made it a potentially quicker trip than that on Friday. However, there were many more people floating the river on Saturday. At times the river looked more like a Disneyland ride than it did a national river.

Sunday brought the day for return to SAU. Minds began turning to what had to be done before Monday morning classes. Even so, these experiences in the Spring of '92 made each think about a return to the Buffalo -- "Maybe next April!"

Strike It Up

The Southern Arkansas University cheerleading squad was a very busy group this year as they performed their spirit-building duties plus more. In July, they attended camp at Southwest Texas State where they brought home the glory by winning three trophies, two Superior ribbons, and one Excellent ribbon.

During the school year, the cheerleaders fired up the crowds at all football and volleyball games. They also cheered at all home basketball games and handed out trophies at track meets in the Spring.

In addition, the SAU spirit leaders judged cheerleading tryouts in east Texas, south Arkansas, and north Louisiana.. They also conducted a cheerleading clinic at Shongaloo during a spring festival.

Deep in the Heart of Texas

The Southern Arkansas University Biology Club ventured out on its annual trip, this year traveling to San Antonio, Texas, where they toured many exciting places. Led by Dr. Hugh Johnson, Biology Club advisor, the group left on a Thursday afternoon and traveled by bus to San Antonio. Friday morning the group had an early start to the first destination of the University of Texas Health Science Center. Here, the students were able to observe the classrooms, labs, and activities of the medical school. The group was shown the newest techniques in teaching the medical students. They also toured the animal research area where the school facilitates a full surgical room. Much research is done there for the study of cancer, HIV, and other diseases. The group was then able to enter one of the Gross Anatomy labs and observe the dissection of human cadavers. They were also shown a new procedure called plastination which is a process of observing actual body parts and using them as models instead of the normal plastic models.

The next stop was the Brooke Army Burn Center. The students were unable to observe any actual burn victims because of the high sterility the patients must be under, however, they were able to tour all the labs and actually look at specimens under a completely computerized electron microscope.

Other stops on the group's tour were the Botanical Gardens, which houses plants from all climates of the world, the San Antonio Zoo, and the Spanish Market, where the students were surrounded by great merchandise at cheap prices.

The Biology Club's annual trip was very educational as well as fun. The trip allowed students to experience a hands-on look at the world of medicine. Because of these trips, the students become more educated in their search for future careers.

Mission ~~Im~~possible

During Spring Break, the Baptist Student Union went on a mission trip to New Orleans. 28 students and three adults went on the trip, the purpose of which was to minister in the name of Christ at the Friendship House in New Orleans. The Friendship House is a mission center sponsored by Southern Baptists which is located one block from the French Quarter.

During the day, the 28 students were assigned to a wide variety of tasks which included mopping floors, cleaning bathrooms, passing out bread and food to over 125 hungry and homeless people, spending time with the elderly and conducting Vacation Bible School for first through sixth graders in the afternoon. The evenings were filled up with doing youth rallies, worship services at retirement centers and worship services at local churches. Around 9:00 p.m. the group would make its way to Bourbon Street to do something quite unexpected by most. Four African-American students could start singing Gospel songs in the middle of Bourbon Street, which would quickly draw a crowd of curious listeners. The rest of the group would take this opportunity to tell the onlookers about the peace they have found in a relationship with Jesus Christ. These conversations would usually end up with a good measure of success.

As well as working hard in the name of Christ, the students from SAU were also able to stroll the streets of the French Quarter, eat some great Cajun food and discover a part of the world quite different than that of Southern Arkansas University. All in all, the students had a wonderful trip and made some friendships that they will keep for the rest of their lives.

Home Away from Home

Southern Arkansas University residence halls become a student's home during the eight months of school. More than just a haven for study or sleep, the residence halls can also provide an opportunity for new friendships to form. These friendships are often fostered by the many social activities sponsored by the various halls, offering a little something for everyone to help pass the time when a student is not hitting the books.

The activities are fun and often ingenious as the RAs and the Housing Directors spend hours dreaming up ideas to put some spice in their residents' lives or educate them on an important area of social concern, such as alcohol and drug awareness and Black History Month. They hold golf tournaments that may help a student make par on his next trip to the golf course, and they hold Super Bowl and World Series pools which could provide a little more...or a little less... money for a student. Many halls also organized banquets, giving the students a chance to break out their Sunday best and eat a FREE steak dinner with their sweetheart.

Whatever the activity, the residence halls helped make life a little more exciting. They create a homey atmosphere in what could otherwise be a sterile environment, and they are undeniably a vital aspect of college life.

Lambda Alpha Beta Enjoys Trip to New Orleans

On March 8, Dr. Moji Bonakdar and five physical science students traveled to New Orleans for the annual Pittsburgh Society Conference of Analytical Chemistry and Applied Spectroscopy (PITTCON). The conference offered the largest exhibit of analytical technology in the world. It consisted of both technical demonstrations and expositions sponsored by companies from all over the world. 30 thousand people attended the conference, which covered an area equal to thirteen football fields and featured 64 hundred expositions that included lab equipment, safety equipment and lectures from professors and students. Other highlights were exhibits on the Hubble Telescope, the status of analytical chemistry in the world, and the role of women and minorities in science.

The conference benefitted the students by providing them with the chance to explore job opportunities as companies sent representatives who listed jobs available to graduating seniors, allowing interviews to be arranged for those who qualified. However, the students took some time out for fun by touring places like the Aquarium of Americas and attending dinners given by the Royal Society of Chemistry. It also gave the students the chance to participate in an event attended by people from China, Japan, Canada, Sweden, Germany, and other foreign countries around the world, exposing them to a wide variety of culture.

Pumping Up

Male students in the Southern Arkansas University resident halls were donning their muscle shirts and pumping up for the Resident Hall Bench-Press Contest. The contest was organized by the Resident Assistants from Greene Hall, Talley Hall, and Talbot Hall, and the purpose was to determine who the strongest man on campus was. After much huffing, puffing, and straining, two clear victors emerged. The winners were Donald Ford and Willie Kemble, and they each received $30 for their efforts.

Rushing, Pledging. Initiation. Membership. These are all familiar terms to anyone in a Greek organization, but they lead to a bond that cannot be described in words. To a freshman leaving home for the first time, the change can be overwhelming. Friendship and a sense of identity can be very comforting. Many students find just this by joining a fraternal organization.

TIES THAT BIND

These social clubs go way beyond the stereotypical "constant partyers" Greeks are well known for their other contributions to a number of charities. The terms brotherhood and sisterhood truly do mean something to the Greeks; they have found a home away from home and a family to give them love and support throughout their college years at Southern Arkansas University.

Sororities Focus on Philanthropies

Alpha Sigma Alpha had a very productive year filled with many social as well as charitable activities. They sponsored their annual Sadie Hawkins Dance, had a social with Sig Tau during the Christian season called "A Christian to Remember," and held a Spring Formal in Dallas. They attended ASA State Day at Henderson State University. The sorority also helped raise money for the S. June Smith Foundation for mentally and sexually abused children. The Alpha Sigs helped raise money for the March of Dimes and won a trophy for the most money raised by a school organization for the sixth year in a row.

Alpha Kappa Alpha broadened their horizons by their many charitable acts during the year. They visited the Meadowbrook nursing home as one of their service projects. They set up a health workshop in the U.C. to help educate students on the danger of AIDS. The AKA's joined in the fun of Spring Fling by sponsoring the Lifesaver Pass. They also participated in the Spring Greek Show.

Zeta Phi Betas participated in a number of activities that go beyond the typical social aspects of sorority life. Besides holding several social functions, they sponsored a clothing and canned food drive at Spring Fling, their proceeds going to needy families in the Magnolia area. They also organized a Founders Day program in recognition of Black History Month to educate non-Greeks about Greek Life.

Alpha Phi Alpha participated in the Homecoming Greek Show. They also branched out into the musical spectrum by presenting a concert by the group "Three Tymes Luv", who performed in Harton Theater.

Fraternities Promote Student Health

Phi Lambda Chi held a variety of events that made campus life more interesting. Their social functions included a Sweetheart's Dance, an End of the World party, a Fight Night, and a Spring Formal which was held in Monroe. They sponsor the Miss SAU Pageant annually and hold Blood Drives periodically throughout the year. This year they sponsored a Lock-Up for the American Cancer Society during Greek Week. The Phi Lambs were also winners of the canoe race at Family Day during the fall.

Phi Beta Sigma was also active in many campus activities. They held a variety of social functions, such as a Toga party. They performed at an informal Greek Show. They also held a Body Contest in the Old Armory to promote physical fitness.

Family Ties

Phi Mu has been very active in its second year since colonization. The founding members of the group were initiated in the fall, and this spring their total reached 35, making them the largest sorority on campus. They had a variety of social events including Pumpkin Patch Bash with Sig Tau, a St. Patrick's Day dance with Sigma Pi, the annual Pajama Party, and a winter and spring formal. Phi Mu also collected for the American Heart Association and worked with TWIGS to raise money for the Arkansas Children's Hospital.

Delta Sigma Theta was also a busy group this year. They sponsored a Gospel program on campus. They participated in the Homecoming Greek Show and came away with first place. They went to a nursing home on Valentine's Day and delivered cards to the elderly. Their philanthropy work also included walking in the March of Dimes Walk America.

A Year for Growth

Once again, Delta Omega Theta had a year filled with many activities. They presented "Apollo 3" in the Bruce Center along with the Black Students Association. They held a "Gospel Extravaganza" with Delta Sigma Theta with proceeds going to research for sickle cell anemia. They also sponsored a clothing drive benefitting the needy during the Christmas Holiday season.

This year proved to be a year of growth for Sigma Pi. They initiated two brothers in the fall and thirteen in the spring. Sig Pi had many social functions, such as a St. Patrick's Day party with Phi Mu, the ninth annual S.O.B. Party, an Orchid Ball at DeGray State Park, and the T.G.I.O. Party at the end of each semester. They also held a canoe trip during Spring Break for their alumni and active members.

More Than a Social Outlet

Sigma Gamma Rho is a new sorority on the SAU campus this year. Although they have only been active since fall, their many activities have allowed them to make their mark. In April, they co-sponsored the Spring 1991 Greek Show, "Can You Step With Us", with Alpha Phi Alpha. They sponsored a volleyball game during Spring Fling, and they also participated in Greek Week.

Tri Sigma devoted themselves to many campus activities and charity work. Not only did they raise money for their national charities, but they also participated in the March of Dimes WalkAmerica and visited with children at a boy's home in Macedonia. Their social activities included a Spring Formal held in Camden, an informal Christmas party, and a Homecoming reception for their alumni.

Fraternities Clear the Road to Brotherhood

Kappa Alpha Psi helped to create a positive image of Greek life on the SAU campus. They participated in several Greek shows and other campus activities. The fraternity undertook a big project by participating in the Adopt-A-Highway project which requires them to keep a half-mile of North Jackson free from litter.

Sigma Tau Gamma also participated in the Adopt-A-Highway project by picking up litter on Highway 82. One of the largest fraternal organizations on campus, Sig Tau took home the glory from their national convention last summer in Chicago, winning the Edward H. McCune Distinguished Chapter Award. The fraternity had many social events, including Pumpkin Patch Bash with Phi Mu, A Christmas to Remember with Alpha Sig, and a Spring Formal at Shreveport. They participated in Spring Fling by sponsoring the canoe race, and they won the intramural football title with a 4-2 record.

DEPARTMENTS

Whether it be the Post Office delivering our mail or the Physical Plant tending to our beautiful campus, every department jumps in and sees that their job is done. The Tutoring Center at Jackson Hall offers free tutoring sessions for any student that needs help and in many different areas. The Registrars Office is always busy with students schedules, adding and dropping classes, and a numerous of other projects. The Departments at Southern Arkansas University are often taken for granted, but they play a key role here at the University.

Tuned In Or Turned Off?

Southern Arkansas University's radio station, KSAU, hasn't been heard by many students this year. Why? Apparently there was a broken line in the transmission system. KSAU broadcasts over carrier current, which means that the radio waves go through a cable system. KSAU radio signals go through telephone lines into all buildings on campus. This year, a broken wire disconnected all dorms and most other buildings. The cut on the line probably occurred when the new computer system was installed this past fall. It took until this spring before someone realized that KSAU was disconnected.

The problems associated with KSAU have not dampened the spirit of Robin Stephens, KSAU manager. "We can concentrate on shaping up for next semester," she said. Stephens, who graduates in May, is hoping to fix any problems associated with KSAU's reception before her term as manager is over. She is determined to leave a functioning station to the coming manager.

New And Improved!

"Out with the old and in with the new." This past year Southern Arkansas University's Magale Library installed a new card catalog system. As technology advances so do we! We now have a computerized card catalog system. You just type in your subject and the computer lists all the books in the library on your subject and even gives you a print-out of the list. Talking about a time saver - and as a college student time is very precious. For many students this has been a great help. Our card catalog system is faster and more convenient than the old system. Our new system is so much easier - and we all love the easy way out!

Alan Meyer works diligently on the new card catalog system.

The Mulerider

A Change of Pace

Late nights at the office, working on weekends, every year The Mulerider staff does what it takes to get the yearbooks out on time. The Mulerider had previously produced every page in the book by hand - that is, each picture, headline, screen and copy block was placed on the pages exactly as they appeared in the finished yearbook. This year the book has been switched to desktop publishing and is being done entirely through PageMaker. Although the change to computer was somewhat frustrating, the computer has made all the difference in the world in producing the yearbook.

The word to describe the Mulerider staff is dedicated. The staff is here before school starts in the fall getting prepared for the hussell and bussell of passing out the yearbooks they have worked extra hard on all the year before. But in the end it all pays off. Seeing the smiles of people looking at the book and remembering just where that picture was taken and what was going on at that time - Memories! The Mulerider staff then knows that they have accomplished their goal - capturing the memories of student's lives at Southern Arkansas University.

The purpose of Southern Arkansas University is to help students obtain an education. SAU has five schools and one graduate department from which students can choose their course of study. Each school has various requirements that have to be maintained in order to graduate. Students must strive to maintain these requirements.

Meeting

Requirements

The purpose of these requirements is to prepare students for the challenges that await them later in life. In order to keep the requirements competitive with other universities, SAU evaluates course outlines to keep the classes competitive with the changing times. This commitment to education is what will help SAU keep the same high standards of education it has always held in the past.

A Talley resident heads to class shoudering his books.

The school of Business Administration had a busy and successful year in 1991-1992. Among the many curriculum enrichment events was their Executive-in-Residence program featuring Ronald LeMay, CEO of US Sprint and a graduate of SAU; Dr. Richard C. Chewning, the Hankamer School of Business Baylor University's ethics professor spoke on "The Heart of Business Ethics"; and a lecture by Dr. David Rankin recounted his experiences in the Soviet Union. One of the highlights of the year was the ground-breaking for the new $4.3 million dollar business building, according to Dean Gayle White.

The Division of General Studies comprises the Academic Opportunities Program (AOP), Student Support Services, the Tutoring Center, the Associate of Arts degree in General Studies, and the Bachelor of Applied Science degree. In addition to individual tutoring for most freshman and sophomore subjects, the AOP implemented Supplemental Instruction (SI), a nationally validated program providing group review sessions for specific high-risk courses. Students participating in SI have averaged approximately one letter grade higher than students in the same classes who have chosen not to participate.

This year has been a very productive year for the School of Education. They had an increased enrollment from last year and started a new graduate program in Library Media. They also established partnerships with several area public schools. Some of the faculty members have been selected to make presentations at National Meetings and Conferences and some members of the faculty have had professional publications published.

This academic year has been busy for the School of Science and Technology. Several grants, totalling more than $500,000 were obtained in this school. The Agriculture Department continued to receive top awards at animal shows. Dr. Henry Robison in the Department of Biology had another aquatic species named after him as the discoverer. Mathematics hosted Mathematics Day for the 14th year. The Nursing Department graduated their first off-campus class in El Dorado and established a second off-campus class in DeQueen at Cossatot Technical College. The Department of Chemistry acquired additional equipment in high performance liquid ion exchange chromatography and a New Fourier transform infrared spectrometer.

The highlights of the year for the School of Liberal and Performing Arts was the completion of the new Brinson Art Building, which has become the focus of many new activities including the first Student Design Competition and several alumni art shows. In the Department of English and Foreign Languages the spotlight was focused on the Fourth Annual Hispanic Literature and Culture Conference which brought both national and international scholars to our campus. The History Department once again hosted State History Day. Theatre brought the renowned Peter Palmer to SAU. Psychology christened a new MacIntosh Lab. Music and Theatre teamed up to produce an artistic version of The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas.

At the Top

The Board of Trustees here at Southern Arkansas University has had a very productive year. The board approved various renovation projects for the year and they also approved a bid for a new Business-Agri/Business Building. The renovations are to accommodate the ever growing student body. Enrollment in the fall of 1991 showed an increase of 14.25% and is still expected to grow in the future. Another approval made by the board was a tuition increase to $690 a semester including all fees for full-time in-state students and $1100 a semester for room and board. This academic school year the board saw two members resign, followed by the addition of two new members. Dr. Bob Burns resigned from the board and Dr. Harold Brinson resigned as president of the University on December 31, 1991. In January the board members were elected: Mrs. Virginia Todd, Chairperson; Mr. Auburn Smith, Vice Chairperson; Clyde Sasser, Secretary; and Mr. Don Stemple and Mike Hunnicutt will serve as members for the upcoming year.

Dr. Lovell is Vice President for Academic Affairs. He received his B.S. in animal science/agriculture education and his M.S. in biological science education both from Oklahoma State University. Also, in 1964, Dr. Lovell received his Ph.D. in ecology from Kansas State University.

Dr. Roger Giles is Vice President of Administration and Finance. He received his B.A. in history at UAF. He then received his J.D. in Communication Law also at UAF. He then went to UALR and received his M.A. degree.

Dr. Donald Haefner is Vice President for Student Affairs here at SAU. He received his B.A. and B.S.E. from Ohio State University. Dr. Haefner attended the University of Tennessee at Knoxville where he received his Ed.D.

Change of Cheifs

Dr. Steven Gamble began his duties as president here at Southern Arkansas University on March 1, 1992. Gamble came from Canyon, Texas, where he was vice president for academic affairs and associate professor of history at West Texas State University.

Gamble has been involved in education for the past nineteen years. He has taught history at West Texas State University, Angelo State University, and Texas Tech University. Also, he was director of admissions at Angelo State and admissions officer at Texas Tech.

Dr. Gamble served as an officer in the United States Air Force from 1968 to 1972 and has served since that time in the Air Force Reserves. He is now a Lieutenant Colonel.

Dr. Steven Gamble participates in a board meeting.

The Best of

The fifteenth annual Southern Arkansas University Honors Convocation was held in the Harton Theatre on May 3, 1992.

The Heritage Singers lead by Dr. Gene W. Kelsay and the Brass Ensemble lead by Mr. Eddie Epperson provided entertainment for the afternoon.

The students that participated in the ceremony were recognized and given special awards for Alpha Chi, Student Foundation, and Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

The outstanding students from each of the four schools were also represented. Holly Shotts, an Accounting major from Magnolia, was presented the Outstanding Student from the School of Business Administration. The Outstanding Student from the School of Education was awarded to Cathy Long a HPER major from Norphlet. The award for Outstanding Student from the School of Liberal and Performing Arts was given to Tanya Branch a Music major from Magnolia. Amy Wilson was honored with the award for the Outstanding Student from the school of Science and Technology.

Dr. Larry Winford McNeal was the recipient for Honor Professor. Dr. McNeal received his B.S.E. here at Southern Arkansas University and his masters at Auburn University and his doctorate at North Texas State University. He is a professor of Education here at SAU.

Ten, twenty, and thirty year service awards were given to faculty and staff members for their hard work and dedication.

Concluding the Honors convocation was a tribute to the retiring staff members. Those who were honored were Mrs. Irene W. Brannon, Dr. Jackie T. Harrington, Dr. Gene W. Kelsay, Mrs. Alvarene G. Peace, Mr. Robert W. Reid, and Mr. H. Edsel Talley.

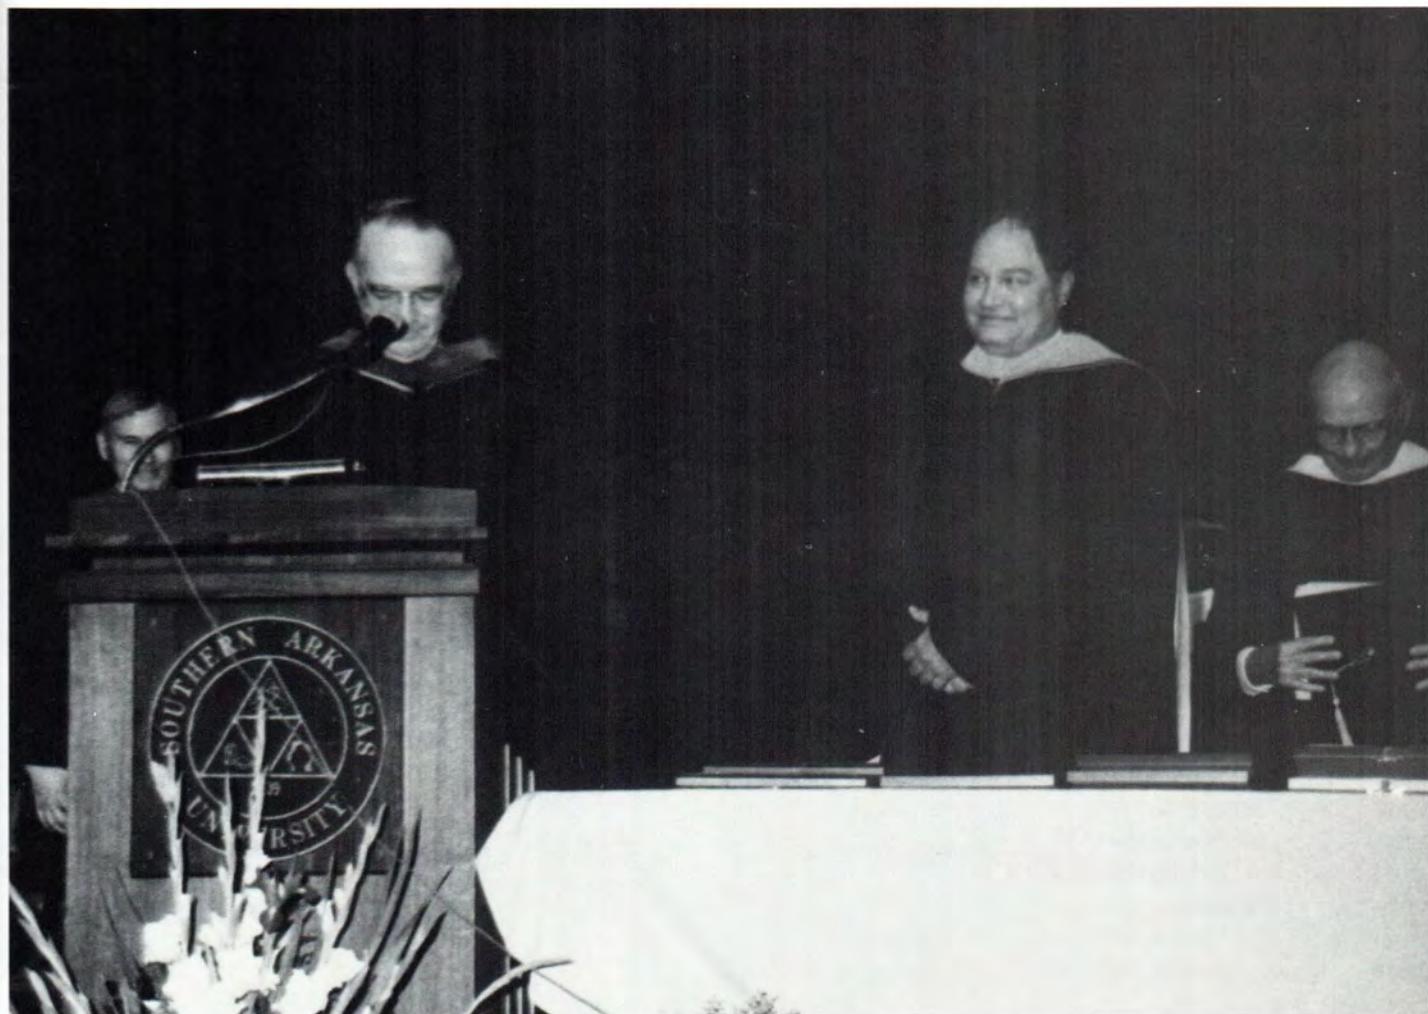

The Outstanding Liberal and Performing Arts student was Tanya Branch.

The problem of finding a place to park here on campus was just as big of a problem this year as it was last year. With the enrollment increasing each year the available amount of parking places grows smaller. This picture shows how one Harrod Resident solves the problem by making her own parking place while risking a fine by the SAU campus police.

Catch the Wave

If there is one thing the Southern Arkansas football team has it is spirit. Whether at home or away they prove this in the way they play the sport and their attitude about the sport. This travel bus was spotted just before the team left for a game and the intentions of the team was certain with the #1 hand waving as they left.

Chosen Identity

Personalized license plates are becoming more and more popular each year because people want their own identity. Owner's feel that a personalized plate sets their automobile apart from the rest and states an opinion. The phrases being used are from a wide range of subjects, from names to the owner's favorite sport or activity. The car above was found, coincidentally, in front of the music building.

Catching Up

When classes are not in session students here at Southern Arkansas try to find something to do to relax themselves and to forget about school for awhile. Some people go to the lake while others take long drives. Shown here is a group of students who are gathering around outside of Magale Library laughing and talking enjoying the precious few moments of relaxation.

For Better or Worse?

Eating in the cafeteria here at Southern Arkansas has been something students usually dread so this year the personnel in the cafeteria tried to change these feelings. The cafeteria began offering a variety of food from kitchen classics to mexican dishes. Here Boris Iordanov picks his favorite dish at the vegetable bar.

Playin' for the Big Time

Intramurals play a big part of a Southern Arkansas University students life. The games let students participate in a relaxed atmosphere while allowing the spectators the opportunity to watch the sports. At this particular intramural baseball game three young boys decided they could play with the big boys as they practice their catch.

Just Knocking Around

This spring a group of Southern Arkansas University Students grouped together to form a soccer team. They competed against other universities, but their main goal was to have fun.

Making

We accomplished a lot this year. We did things we always wanted to do, met people who changed our lives a little, or a lot, and experienced life as it never was before or can be again. Just as a child is a different individual because of its unique genetic structure and the least little change would have created a different person; our life this year, and every year, is an experience unique to the individual. The 1991-92 year cannot ever be reproduced here or anywhere else. Each and every student, faculty member, staff, and event had to take place to form this particular year.

Of It All...

Lupetia Maxwell and Latrina Briggs are a little surprised by the camera.

Without

Being

This year was full of difference, change. Some were obvious-a new Homecoming queen and Court, a new sorority, new faculty members arriving and others departing, a new school President and the continuous flow of students entering school, joining clubs, taking classes, filling voids left by previous students who have already left to pursue new lives, then eventually either graduating, dropping, or transferring. Other changes are not as obvious, but they occurred: we fell in love, maybe we broke a heart or had one broken, we overcame obstacles and we acknowledged defeat, we cried for someone else's pain and we reveled in our friends' joys. We grew and loved and lived-we took the chances in order to Make the Change.

KVMA'S Dan Gregory interviews Darnell Ford after a game, top. Joe Pieratt catches up on world events, bottom. Below: LeeAnn Askew and Julie Bourne visit before class.

The Final Change

Well, another year has come and gone, and I once again have the last word in the book. This is the last time I will have it in a Mulerider, because after three years of having it as the editor, I am graduating and passing the torch to my very able friend and co-worker, Shannon Taylor. I wish her luck, but I don't worry that she will need it, she will produce a very fine book, and luck won't have anything to do with it.

First and foremost, I need to thank more people than I have room for. So many people help us get the book out, there's a lot more to it than anyone can imagine. Everyone who cooperated with us for photos and information receive thanks, and thanks should also go to our friends for the support. Houston Taylor at Sports Information, Renee Hoback, The Bray, and our Josten's Rep., Bill Bobo, all need thanks for their help with negatives, statistics, information, and trouble shooting. I personally would like to thank our advisor and sports photographer as well as dark room tech - Dr. Dan Skelton. The man devotes more energy and support than anyone expects, but I don't know how I would have made the past three years.

was a difficult but worthwhile transaction. This first book is the guinea pig, I'm sure there will be mistakes because we just really aren't certain of what we are doing this year. So, if any pictures are in sideways, or anything, have a heart, we didn't mean it.

Thank you Shan, Lori and Lori. I am so proud of my girls, you made the book possible. Thanks for all the long hours and vacation time spent here in this little office, at least we made it interesting! Have fun with next year's! - Dana Skelton, Editor

I would also like to acknowledge my fiance, Alan Meyer, for his support of our work and his assistance in the production of the book. My mother, Kathy Boys, has also been a source of encouragement for the past several years, thanks.

Lastly I should thank Carl and Alan and everyone in the Computer Center for their great understanding and help, because this year we switched our production of the book to desk top publishing, and they were absolutely indispensable. The change of production of our book, by the way,

Occasionally we dedicate our book to someone who has not left us, but still touches us daily and makes us better for having them as a part of our lives. This is just such a time, and the Mulerider staff would like to pay tribute to our advisor, Dr. Dan Skelton.

Dr. Skelton became advisor of the annual several years ago when the book was becoming bogged down with difficulties. He came in and took over, and under his leadership the ranking of the book has risen each year until it achieved and currently maintains the ranking of 1st place. His photography skills and darkroom work actually make it possible to produce our book, and his leadership, dedication, and kindness make us glad we produce our book. Thank you, Dr. Skelton, you are truly appreciated. (I love you, Dad.)

Dana Skelton, editor
